

House bill bans job use of lie detectors

Here's how area members of Congress were recorded on major roll call votes the week ending Nov. 6.

HOUSE

Roll Call Report

Sander Levin, D-Southfield, William Broomfield, R-Birmingham.

EXEMPTING BANKS — By a vote of 181 for and 237 against, the House rejected an amendment to exempt federally regulated financial institutions such as banks from the legislation (above) prohibiting lie detector tests in most areas of the private sector.

Amendment supporter Chalmers Wylie, R-Ohio, said polygraph testing is needed "to protect the integrity of savings, lending and trading institutions that are at the heart of our economy."

Opponent Pat Williams, D-Mont., said "this outdated, time-worn, unscientific device called a lie detector" will not further honesty in financial institutions.

Members voting yes wanted financial institutions to be able to use lie detector tests on workers.

Voting yes: Pursell, Hertel, Ford, Levin.

TO ARREST MEMBERS — By a vote of 65 for and 130 against, with 238 members absent, the House rejected a motion "that the Sergeant at Arms be directed to arrest the absent members" during the session of Monday, Nov. 2.

The motion was sponsored by Rep. James Sensenbrenner, R-Wis., as part of a GOP protest against the leadership tactics of speaker Jim Wright, D-Tex. Wright the week before had used what critics said were autocratic stalling and arm-twisting tactics to gain passage by one vote of a $14.5 billion deficit-reduction bill.

A yes vote was in support of dispatching federal marshals to arrest absent House members.

Voting no: Hertel, Levin, Broomfield.

Not voting: Pursell, Ford.

SENATE

INDEPENDENT COUNSELS — By a vote of 85 for and 10 against, the Senate passed a bill (S 1293) extending for five years the law providing for the appointment of special prosecutors who are essentially independent of the Justice Department.

The purpose of the Watergate-era law is to steer around conflicts of interest that arise when an administration investigates itself. Under the law, a U.S. appellate court panel can, upon the recommendation of the attorney general, appoint an independent counsel to probe alleged wrongdoing by high executive branch officials.

The bill, which was sent to conference with the House, also limits the attorney general's ability to recommend against appointment of an independent counsel.

Senators voting yes supported the bill. Michigan Democrats Carl Levin and Donald Riegle voted yes.

TO PROBE LAWMAKERS — By a vote of 49 for and 46 against, the Senate tabled (killed) an amendment to enable independent counsels to probe members of Congress along with high executive branch officials. The amendment was offered to S 1293 (above).

Carl Levin, D-Mich., voted to table the amendment, tarring it unnecessary because historically "there has been no reluctance" by attorneys general to prosecute members of Congress.

Alan Simpson, R-Wyo., said members of Congress "must be willing to be subject to the same scrutiny as we demand of our executive leadership."

Michigan's Levin and Riegle were among senators voting yes, to exempt members of Congress from the jurisdiction of special prosecutors.

License fee bill breaks out of House committee

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Early this week it looked dead. But by Tuesday noon, a state House committee reported out a bruised bill to raise $78 million in drivers' fees for roads.

"The reason it passed was we picked up two Republican votes, but we got some amendments that pared it down," said state Rep. Mat Dunaskiss, R-Lake Orion, after the House Transportation Committee meeting.

Dunaskiss and Rep. James Kosteva, D-Canton, were in the majority as the panel gave 10-5 approval to SB 132, which was designed to raise $85 million when it was passed by the Senate.

THE OUTSTATE Republicans joined the majority after winning approval of an amendment to raise title fees to $6 instead of $10. That and another amendment cut an estimated $8 million from the total.

"I'm no big spender," said Dunaskiss, a conservative whose district includes Oakland Township, "but those fees haven't been raised in a long time. Some fees need to be raised for operation of the Secretary of State's office."

There will be $50 million for roads out of this. It's a direct benefit to Oakland County."

SB 132 is the centerpiece of a package of House and Senate bills aimed at raising $110 million in new revenue for roads. An estimated $13 million will go to Oakland because of its economic growth.

HERE, ACCORDING to a staff analysis, are other fees that will be changed:

- A new service fee of $5 for every registration — passenger, commercial, temporary, special, farm, manufacturer's, historic and personalized plate. The biggest single revenue source, it will raise $38 million in new money.

- Commercial fee increases of 15 percent. Fees will be ad valorem (based on the value of the vehicle) instead of by weight.

- Trailer fees increases of 25 percent.

The bill sets up a $400,000 fund for a state truck drivers' school.

The bill faces stiffer opposition in the House than in the Senate. Dunaskiss said the opposition fears "a secret plan for a gas tax increase. But the governor has been very up-front: no to a gas tax. It was a forceful statement."

"That's going to help move the package along. It's this or nothing."
