

Filmmaker Warren Miller is all smiles having completed his latest skiing film, "White Winter Heat."

Film shows hot ski action

Internationally known filmmaker Warren Miller has attempted to capture the power of skiing on film in his new feature-length release, "White Winter Heat," presented by Audi Quattro, WJR-AM Radio and the Metro Times.

"White Winter Heat" will be shown at 8 p.m. Sunday in the Michigan Theater in Ann Arbor; 8 p.m. Wednesday, Nov. 25, at Detroit's Ford Auditorium; and 3 and 8 p.m. Saturday, Nov. 28, in the Royal Oak Music Theater.

His 38th ski film in as many years, "White Winter Heat," is a humorous adventure, produced, written, directed and narrated by Miller with his cameramen filming action — all woven together with Miller's characteristic humor.

"WHITE WINTER Heat" was filmed on four continents — from the mysterious alpine beauty of the

New Zealand Alps and the romance of summer skiing in Las Lenas, Argentina, to the hottest skiing spots in North America.

It contains ski sequences of helicopter skiing in British Columbia, cliff jumping, as well as windsurfing in Oregon's River Gorge, a mountain bike race, horse racing on the ice at St. Moritz and a 75 mph bobsled ride with Miller's "you-are-there" camera techniques.

To capture the exciting footage, Miller and his crews logged over 300,000 air miles and drove 25,000 miles to film 200,000 feet of film. Tickets are available at all Ticketmaster locations, and at each theater box office, or may be purchased by calling 423-6666.

The film features such daredevil action as cliff jumper Willi Vogl making his own "white winter heat" in Blackcomb, British Columbia.
