

Suburban Life

Loraine McClellan editor/477-5450

(F)18

Thursday, December 31, 1987 O&E

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Members of Farmington Community Band, Farmington Community Chorus and Farmington Musicals pooled their talents for a full-fledged musical production in the spring and pledged to make it an annual event.

Marjorie J. Mitchell, a resident of Farmington, was a 1987 Heart of Gold recipient, won for her work with mentally retarded citizens.

Photographer Monte Nagler took the highest arts honors the two cities can bestow when he was named Artist-in-Residence for 1987.

Looking back on 1987 review

We searched the files to jog your memory of the people who made a mark on the 1987 calendar.

Titles were won. Awards were given. Challenges were taken.

We said goodbye. And we said welcome.

We extended our regrets. We sent our congratulations.

Now we look forward with hope for a happy new year to all of our readers in Farmington and Farmington Hills.

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Artist and art teacher Slater Mary Ignatius turned 80 this year and turned her birthday celebration into a benefit fund-raiser for Mercy High School.

Marion McCracken, a Farmington resident, longtime feminist and political activist, is elected president of Michigan NOW.

RANDY BORST/staff photographer

Dulane Whinnery took the roses of victory, the crown and the title of Miss Farmington 1987. The University of Michigan graduate is now a law student at Wayne State University.

LAURA CASTLE/staff photographer

Betty Palno leaves her position as Farmington Community Center's executive director with a gift of a gold necklace she tries on with help from her husband, Parry. She had been with the center since 1979. It was six months before the center's board of directors announced her replacement.

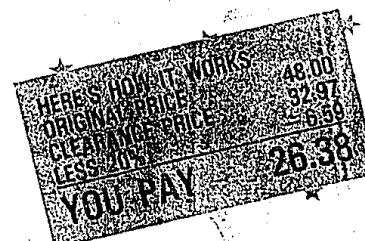

SHOP NEW YEAR'S DAY 11a.m. to 5p.m.

AT CROWLEY'S WESTBORN, MACOMB, LIVONIA, FARMINGTON, BIRMINGHAM, LAKESIDE, UNIVERSAL, TEL-TWELVE, WILDWOOD PLAZA AND COURTLAND CENTER

NEW YEAR'S DAY ONLY!
TAKE AN ADDITIONAL

20% OFF

ALL CLEARANCE PRICED MERCHANDISE
WITH 97° ENDINGS IN ALL
DEPARTMENTS EXCEPT FINE JEWELRY

Previously purchased merchandise will not qualify for adjustments during this promotion.

CROWLEY'S
CROWLEY'S FINE & COMPANY

Use your Visa, Mastercard, American Express and Discover Card, or our Comp U-Check service at Crowley's