Thirty-seven exhibitors from Maine to California will present a variety of items reflecting the quality and scope of the museum collections. Included among the selections will be furniture and accessories, paintings, jewelry, toys, clothing, glass and ceramics, textiles, clocks and watches, priced to appeal to a wide range of tastes and budgets.

A young-collectors booth, presenting antiques priced for the beginning collector, once again is slated for the show. All the affordable antiques in the booth, from accessories to larger items, will be provided by the show exhibitors.

A preview night is planned Thursday, May 12, for those wishing an opportunity to view and purchase the assembled antiques before the show opens to the public. Benefactors ($125 per person) will be admitted at 4 p.m. and patrons ($100 per person) one hour later at 7 p.m. Both will be able to spend a gourmet buffet dinner and cocktails served in Lovett Hall, the show site.

ALSO SCHEDULED is a lecture, Saturday, May 13, by Clement E. Conger, curator of the Diplomatic Reception Rooms for the U.S. Department of State. The $5 ticket includes a coffee and pastry reception preceding the 10 a.m. program in the Henry Ford Museum Theater.
