Speak Easy

Artist Alice Nichols and author Lee Peel will sign copies of their new book, "Speak Easy, Read Write" at a reception from 1:30-4:30 p.m. Wednesday, April 20, in the Orchard Ridge Campus Book Store, in J Building's lower level, Oakland Community College.

The book is a collection of Americanized foreign words and phrases that tend to be misspelled, misused or mispronounced. Peel is a retired English teacher and local historian. Nichols was the area's "Artist-in-Residence" in 1982.

Art award nominees sought

The Farmington Area Arts Commission is accepting nominations for the 1988's Artist-in-Residence, for the individual and for the organization to receive this year's Service to Arts award.

An artist can nominate him or herself, or nominees can be made by an individual or an organization. Candidates are selected from the fields of art, dance, drama, literature and music.

The Artist-in-Residence Award recognizes the talent and accomplishment of an individual who lives in Farmington or Farmington Hills. The Service to Arts award recognizes outstanding service to the community in the creative arts.

Nominations must include the major area of work, professional credits, performances or exhibitions, awards, and slides or photos when applicable. It must also include a statement of why the nominee is worthy of the award.

Nomination deadline is April 18. Nominations are to be sent to Farmington Area Arts Commission, 31555 11 Mile Road, Farmington Hills 48018.
