Is Pot Really Harmful?

Here are questions sent to the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, Livonia.

Q. This really isn't a question, but I use marijuana and I don't see anything wrong with it. What bugs me is being lumped together with speed freaks and heroin addicts just because I use the stuff.

A. Agreed that people on powerful stimulants such as "speed" can be extremely dangerous to themselves and others. Agreed that a heroin addict will do almost anything to support the habit.

But just remember that they are people too, trying to solve problems or get gratification with drugs—just as you are with marijuana. If you would like to help them—and maybe yourself—call 281-DRUG. Why not become part of the solution instead of part of the problem?

Q. Can you get high off of aspirin and coke?

A. No, according to all medical experts. But on the odd chance that you can, we are forwarding the appropriate forms so that you can will your body to science, because this ability would really make you something else.

Q. Why are so many people hung up on this drug abuse thing? The war is dividing this country and pollution is destroying it, but all we hear is drug abuse.

A. 1. Drugs are killing more young people here than the war is.

2. The ecology of our bodies is being messed up with everything from aspirin, caffeine and booze to marijuana, LSD and heroin. It took many years for us to realize what we were doing to our lakes, rivers and air. Let's treat our own bodies better. At the present rate, we may destroy ourselves before we finish destroying our environment.

Q. What about the drug that almost killed those high school kids in Livonia?

A. We've had a number of questions about this drug. Second, in the past couple of weeks. It deserves more than a brief answer. Next week's column will be devoted exclusively to this type of drug.
