

Kraemer: Make prosecutor's office work

By Tim Richard
staff writer

Barry Kraemer is finally getting his day in court.

The choice of Oakland County Democrats to run for prosecutor, Kraemer, 39, of Clawson was proposed in his primary while four Republicans battling it out for the GOP nomination got months of attention.

Winner on Nov. 8 will succeed L. Brooks Patterson, retiring after 16 years as the county's chief law enforcement officer.

Kraemer is a public safety officer in Oak Park.

Q. What do you do in your job?

A. We are a combined police and fire operation. So we are certified police officers as well as firefighters trained by the Firefighter Training Council. I'm a public safety officer II — fire inspector. I have been since June of 1985. My current responsibilities are fire cause and origin and arson investigation.

Q. To run for prosecutor, you must have a law degree. Have you done any legal practice?

A. Yes, since I passed the bar in 1982, I have been involved in the general practice of law — wills, house closings, a few divorces. I did quite a bit of mental health work with probate court when I first became an attorney. (He is a sole practitioner.)

Q. What kind of campaign budget do you have to take on Dick Thompson? As you've read in the campaign reports, he's pretty well heeled.

A. He spent in excess of $10,000 in the primary, and he's very capable. I have a budget of $10,000. We believe we can raise $10,000 and have set a budget accordingly. Also, I've set a secondary budget if we fall short of that.

Q. If you are elected Oakland County prosecutor, what changes would you make in the office?

A. Retention of quality people in the prosecutor's office — that is very important.

I also see drug forfeiture increased. I think we in Oakland County have fallen behind surrounding counties in terms of a pro-active forfeiture to go after the ill-gotten gains of drug dealers, whether they're street level, mid-level or high level.

Barry Kraemer
Democratic candidate

Q. You'd better explain what that means.

A. There's a state law which allows for dealers who's trafficking in narcotics, forfeiture of anything that may be the result of ill-gotten gains. A good example is the street-level dealer who may have several thousand dollars. He can be served notice that under the Michigan Forfeiture Act, that can be taken.

The automobile that's used in trafficking, if it was used to pick up drugs for a sale or delivery, can be seized. Assets. . . George Best, who runs the program in the Wayne County prosecutor's office, has gone after horses, horse farms in Kentucky, anything that's the result of trafficking in narcotics, gold, jewelry, diamond rings, investments, portfolios. . .

Q. Are you suggesting Patterson's office hasn't done this sufficiently?

A. That's correct.

I think we need to re-evaluate staff use. The probate court, especially juvenile division, could use one, possibly two more attorneys because of the juvenile caseload.

Currently there are three prosecutors available. On days when juvenile court is in session, normally there is a tremendous caseload and a lot of delay — for persons in the system as well as for attorneys and witnesses and parents of children called into probate court.

Q. Let's back up to retention of quality personnel. Is it your opinion that there's a high turnover of quality people?

A. Yes. People who are professionals . . . have a sense of worth and belonging. If you instill in them trust and believe in them, you get their loyalty, and they stay.

Obviously, pay is a big issue . . . but there are people who dedicate their lives to the prosecutor's office and will stay if they are given that degree of respect.

Q. Brooks Patterson has been known for having a legislative program, sometimes a very long one. Do you have a legislative program of your own?

A. No, sir. I don't see myself actively seeking legislation. I did more than try to assist any legislator who wanted input from the field, statistical data, information.

We have some good quality legislators. I know (state Rep.) Perry Ballard (D-Ann Arbor) has done a great deal. There are a number of bills he has proposed. . .

Q. Patterson also has been known for criticizing judges — Circuit Judge James Thorburn, now retiring, comes to mind; District Judge Martin Boyle out in Walled Lake. Will you be commenting on judges in the same way?

A. No, sir. I've worked in the system for 18 years, and I've seen a lot of good quality people on the bench. I don't think it's in my interest to criticize that judge. If I believe he has overstepped his judicial bounds, then under the canon of ethics I would be obligated to bring that to the Judicial Tenure Commission.

Q. Where do you see Barry Kraemer 8½ years from now — assuming you win two terms as prosecutor?

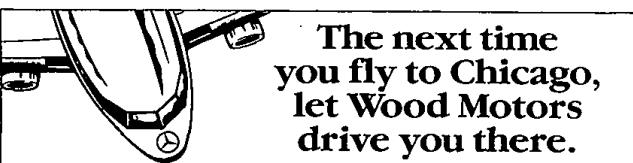

A. I'm a law enforcement professional. This is my first attempt at political office. . . If I'm not in the the office, I'll be in some form of law enforcement.

prosecutor's office, I'll be in some form of law enforcement.

Q. How did you decide to become a lawyer?

A. A good lawyer friend of mine who talked to me after I completed my master's work (Kraemer has bachelor's degree in criminal justice in 1972 and a master's in education in 1977). I've always been interested in the law, being a law enforcement officer.

It adds credibility to my teaching. I've taught in the Oakland Police Academy. I assisted in teaching the deadly force seminar — decision shooting for police officers: when to shoot, when not to shoot.

Just stop by Wood Motors. We'll get you to the airport on time. And while you're gone, we'll change your oil, tune your engine, and perform other routine maintenance that your Mercedes-Benz may require.

It's personal.
