How to handle problems of space

To heighten the livability of a small space, treat it as though it is more than one room. When you subdivide a room to serve multiple functions, it looks bigger instantly. This can be achieved physically with the use of a screen, a divider or with the placement of furniture.

Usually this can be achieved with the use of area rugs and differing color schemes that are compatible with one another.

I think of corners as extra-special spaces and rate extra-special treatment. You can make the corner your focal point in the room by using plants, art or a treasured antique. Camouflage storage behind a handsome corner screen. Corner cabinet in the dining room is another way you can put that space to work for you.

QUESTION FROM a reader: My living room is 14-by-14-feet in size.
