

4 repeat on honor team

Moss, a two-time All-Tri-River League selection, was the team's RBI leader. "Just a great attitude and defensively she has an excellent arm," said Leticia. "She's a good at-around player. She played two years for us at shortstop."

Leticia Szafarski, at-large, Franklin: The senior catcher had a season that could not be overlooked. She batted .448 (34 for 77) and led the team in RBI with 33. Over the final four games Szafarski went 7-for-13.

Said coach Jon Epstein of the All-WLAA selection: "Leticia was our leading hitter, the one I could depend on. Defensively, people got on base early in the season, but by the time the season was over, nobody was going to steal on her."

Szafarski, who recently moved to Brighton, was the team's co-MVP along with Allen.

Jenny Kennedy, infielder, Ladywood: The senior third baseman was Ladywood's top performer, making All-Central Division, All-Catholic, All-District and All-Region.

She batted .433 (42 for 97) and collected 28 RBI, 35 runs and 28 stolen bases. She clubbed three homers, four triples and two doubles.

Defensively, Kennedy made only seven errors in 75 chances. The Ladywood standout carries a 3.2 GPA and will attend Bowling Green of Ohio this fall on a basketball scholarship.

Christina Hoffman, infielder, John Glenn: The senior third baseman has been a consistent starter three seasons with the Rockets. As a senior, Hoffman batted .463 (32 for 69) and knocked in 23 runs. She smacked six doubles and two homers.

While earning Glenn's offensive award, the all-WLAA selection was a defensive standout as well, making 19 putouts, 33

all-area softball assists with only three errors.

"She's been very consistent," said Glenn coach Linda Jimenez. Hoffman recently moved to Grand Rapids and plans to play basketball at a nearby junior college.

Ann Mundinger, infielder, Salem: A four-year starter and making her second appearance on the first team is the Plymouth Salem senior, who is bound next year on scholarship to Western Michigan University.

As a senior, Mundinger batted .387 (29 for 75) with 22 RBI, 24 runs scored and one homer. The All-WLAA selection also collected seven doubles.

In her four years at Salem, Mundinger never struck out.

"She plays shortstop like nobody in this area does," said one rival coach. "If you're going to start a team, you start with her."

Stacey Thompson, at-large, Canton: The junior pitcher did it all for the much-improved Chiefs.

She finished with an 18-6 record with 85 strikeouts in 150 innings of work. She gave up 23 earned runs and 77 walks.

Offensively, Thompson was a one-woman demolition squad, hitting .443 (35 for 79) with 23 RBI and three homers. She also stole 10 bases.

Thompson was also named to the All-WLAA first-team as an at-large pick. "She hits about as well as anybody in this area," said one rival coach.

Melissa Tisdale, outfielder, Farmington: It wasn't a banner season for Farmington, but it was for one Falcon.

Tisdale, making her second straight appearance on the All-Area team, was the team's leader in just about every offensive category including batting average (.431), hits (28), doubles (7), triples (6), RBI (23) and runs (22).

"She played some third base but was most effective in the outfield. The two-time Falcon MVP will be missed by coach Rich Roy.

"Melissa is as good as anybody I saw," said the Farmington coach. "She has a terrific arm and made some great catches this season that other coaches in the area can attest to."

"She's a four-year starter and she'll be hard to replace."

Kim Reith, outfielder, Garden City: The senior center fielder was a three-year starter.

En route to All-Northwest Suburban League honors, Reith batted .402 (35 for 87) with 25 RBI, 27 runs scored and seven triples.

She was also second on the team in stolen bases with 11.

"Kim started slowly the first third of the season, but once she caught on, I'd say the last half of the season she hit over .500," said GC coach Barry Patterson.

"Defensively she's as good as anybody I've seen this year."

"She has a good throwing arm and good range."

Reith made 19 putouts, eight assists and committed only two errors.

Kerry Sayers, outfielder, Marcy: Started off as the Marins' shortstop, but went back to the outfield.

Despite a broken hand which hampered her all season, Sayers, a two-time All-Observer pick, made only three errors with 24 putouts.

Offensively, Sayers batted .391 (38 for 97) with 16 RBI and 21 runs scored.

She was a catalyst all season for the Marins and a steady performer in the outfield, according to coach Suzanne Brown.
