Tag Days

Beth Frump from Farmington High School Marching Band, Lisa Kates from Harrison High School's Flag Corps and Amy Thurston, a member of North Farmington High School Orchestra will be shaking their canisters — with hundreds of musicians from the city's three schools — for Tag Days, Oct. 6-7. The once a year event is the major fund-raiser for the schools' music programs. The musicians ask passers-by for a contribution and in turn give a pass to one of the school's concerts. The girls pictured here are in front of the Bon Ton Shoppe in downtown Farmington, a consistent Tag Day supporter, and one of dozens of businesses in the sister cities where the musicians will be posted, asking for a tax deductible donation.

Center marks 20th year

Editor's note: For 20 years the doors of The Community Center have been kept open through the work of men and women who volunteer to serve as its directors. The Farmington Observer introduces the members of the 1989 board to readers as part of the center's 20th anniversary year observance.

Kal Hindo and his wife, Lois, moved with their five children to Farmington Hills in 1967. After years of enjoying classes, social and cultural activities at The Community Center Farmington-Farmington Hills, Kal Hindo joined the board of directors.

According to Hindo, the center should cultivate the community's interest in educational classes, and serve its cultural needs in music, art and recreation. He would like to see the center enhance its existing programs to benefit all the members of the community.

He is the senior vice-president of NTH Consultants, LTD in Farmington Hills and received his master's in civil engineering from Notre Dame. He serves on the Building Appeals Board of Farmington. He has also served as an officer or a board member of numerous professional groups such as the American Society of Civil Engineers, Consulting Engineering Council, American Concrete Institute, Society of Marketing Professional Services, Professional Management Association, and the National Society of Professional Engineers.
