

Documentary show was a year in the making

It has been over a year since Fred Shaheen began organizing his thoughts for a documentary television show — many hours of setting up personal interviews and going on location to videotape.

Fred, who was previously a community access instructor for our system, is thoroughly versed in the art of production skills. Hours and hours of editing went into this project.

The concept of the documentary is supported by the locally based group 1-Flag (Parents and Friends of Lesbians and Gays). The program is entitled, "Listening, Learning, & Loving: Parents of Lesbians and Gays." The program is intended as a tool for parents struggling with acceptance of the reality that their children are of these life patterns.

Fred pursued a grant from the Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission to underwrite costs of his production.

You may view this sensitive and touching program on cable Channel 12 on Nov. 8 and 15 at 7:30 p.m.

As television has brought our world together time and time again, especially during times of crisis, it is with pride that we as individual citizens have the opportunity through a cable television channel to extend help through conscientious programming such as "Listening, Learning & Loving."
