

Election programming can help voters choose

Yes, your vote does make a difference. One of the most important facts I have learned is each person's efforts do count and make a difference. To quote a philosophy Farmington Mayor Richard Tupper believes in: "If you're not part of the solution, you're part of the problem." Yes, yes, yes. Our community Channel 12 would like to help you feel prepared and educated enough to make decisions to vote with confidence. On Nov. 6, all day and evening, our television schedule will host all pre-election programming such as candidates nights from Farmington, Farmington Hills and Novi. At 8:30 p.m. Nov. 7, after polls have closed, we will bring "Election Night Live" from four sites. Our studio at MetroVision will host state representatives Jan Dolan and Willis Bullard to discuss state issues. Live from each city, we will interview candidates and discuss issues. Hosts for the evening will be:

- Novi — Cindy Stewart, public

cable connection

Lark Samouelian

executive director,
Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission

Information director, and Ronald Watson, council member.

Farmington — Sandy Bretherton, former state representative, and Larry Freedman, president, board of directors, Farmington-Farmington Hills Community Center.

Farmington Hills — Jody Soronen, council member and Jack McDonald, Year 2000 chairman.

Channel 12 will bring you live programming from all three cities all evening long.
