Pro-choice and pro-life forces mingled without confrontation while picketing along the Orchard Lake Road side of the Women's Center in Livonia.

rying infants wrapped in blankets to emphasize their cause, others dressed in red "Jesus" vests.

"More than 1.5 million babies are being killed in the United States every year. That's a national tragedy of unbelievable dimensions. It's a tragedy that must be brought home."

"We must take action to save at least some of these babies."

He called abortion the gateway to euthanasia, killing deformed infants and other "kinds of slaughter."

"It's a fundamental right of women to be able to get abortions," said Detroit resident Shanta Driver, spokeswoman for the Defend Abortion Rights Detroit Coalition.

Operation Rescue has picketed the Western Women's Center four times this year. Picketing will continue as long as abortion is legal, Mills said. "The bottom line is education," she said. "When people really know what's growing inside of the womb, they'll change their mind."

Driver said her group is "prepared to defend the right of pro-choice at clinic doors and in the streets." Members toled signs with themes ranging from "No Parental, No Spousal Consent Laws" to "Mind Your Own Uterus."

POLICE ARRESTED one pro-choice activist. They said the 26-year-old Wayne State University medical student interfered with a police officer.

The man was released on $75 cash bond after being issued a ticket to appear in 47th District Court in Farmington. He faces up 90 days in jail and a $500 fine if convicted of the local misdemeanor charge.

ONE DAY IT HURTS, THE NEXT DAY IT DOESN'T

Why is arthritis so inconsistent? One day you have sharp pain in your knees and wrists, and the next day the pain is gone or has moved to your shoulders.

The body produces a number of chemicals to offset the physiological products of inflammation that form the basis of your arthritic pain. Some days the body wins; it produces counter-irritants sufficient to protect the integrity of joint tissues. Freedom from pain results.

Augmenting this response is your anti-arthritis medications. At times these drugs are well absorbed and enter the circulation unchanged. At other times absorption may be incomplete, or for unclear reasons, the drugs are rapidly broken down in the liver and kidneys. The result is a loss in the ability of medication to help the body's defenses.

Poor fatigue, both mental and physical, influence your response. Fatigue causes a chemical response from the muscles which adds to the effects of inflammation.

Arthritis is constant. It always presses forward. What is changing and unpredictable is the way your body's defenses and your medication will work together to defend your joints.
