

Cable panel boasts new member, new chairman

The Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission welcomes Joseph Toth as its new commissioner representing Novi. He is replacing Ron Watson.

Toth has been very involved with the developing of the city of Novi. He was on the Novi Planning Commission for nine years. He was the chairman of the nationally recognized Stormwater Management Committee. He is in his third year on the Novi City Council.

We especially look forward to his involvement as he has been familiar with our television community service as it has developed in Novi.

THE COMMISSION meeting agenda also included the election of a new cable commission chairman. We are honored to announce that William Hartsock will be the new chairman for the Southwestern Oakland Cable Commission.

Hartsock has been with the commission since its inception and knows all the contract and routine intricacies of our structure. He has been the representative from the Farmington City Council.

Congratulations, gentlemen. We are embarking on a new decade and our responsibilities are on the cutting edge of new technology. The cable commission consists of: William Hartsock, chairman, Farmington; Robert Deadman, Farmington; Ben Marks, Farmington Hills; William Costick, Farmington Hills; Edward Kriewall, Novi; and Joseph Toth, Novi.

If you're thinking of buying a condominium, make sure it's a good policy.

Bob Minninger, Agent for Connecticut General Life Insurance Co., says that living at The Heathers ensures a lifestyle he and wife Jean want to pursue. "With our children grown, we lead a more active life," he said "and having The Heathers Club a golf cart away means we can enjoy our sports right in our own backyard."

Jean confirms and adds that proximity to 1 "5 gives them a speedy route to northern ski areas, as well. The Minningers moved from a large five bedroom home, but didn't sacrifice space when they moved to the Ashleigh model in Cambridge Village. "We have the same space and luxury but more area is devoted to living rather than sleeping," says Jean.

The Minningers like to keep on the go and Bob says there's peace of mind with care-free condominium living. "We asked if the builder had a bearing on their choice. "Definitely," says Jean. "We have followed the Robertson reputation for years." Bob concluded, "I'd underwrite our decision, any time."
