North's size rules over Falcons' grit

FARMINGTON coach Bob Kaump agreed with Negoshian the inside play of Carlson, Detter and Chwalik was the deciding factor.

"Carlson kept posting up on us and, with his size, that was too much." he said. "We talked about fronting him but didn't get that ac-complished. Detter really hurt us, too. We weren't expecting anything from blm."

The Falcons, who fall to 1-5 in the Lakes and 4-8 overall, have experi-enced their share of frustrations, playing well bul losing tight games. Farmington was averaging 58 points going into Friday's game, according to Kaump, and the opposition 60.

Hoffman spent most of Thursday in the booplial after experiencing stomach pains. The tests proved in-conclusive, and there was no out-ward indication that the ailment af-tested his play Friday. "We weren't able to hit anything from outside, and they were able to lay off everybody and pack (the de-fense) inside," Raump said, "Then we needed some 3-pointers, and they extended their defense and did a good job of pressuring us." Baptist bops St. Mary's A fast start wam't enough to carry St. Mary's to victory Thursday. The Engles staggered through a 12-minute stretch in which they scored just str points in losing 60-73 in a NAIA District 23 basketball game at Grand Rapids Baptist. The defeat dropped St. Mary's one game further behind Siena Heights, which ended the first half of district play at 6-0. The Eagles (18-10 overall) are tied with Baptist (11-14) for second at 4-2, with Spring Arbor third at 3-3. A first-place flinist guarantees home-court advantage for the four-team dis-trict obsolfs.

INJURIES HAVE hurt the Eagles. Point guard Dennis Butcher is out in-definitely with a knee injury; Garth Howard (hip pointer) and Marvin Morri-son (ankle) both were hurt in the final minutes against Baptist. Howard and Morrison should be ready for the Siena Heights game at Si. Mary's, 7:30 p.m.
