

Orchestra hits 60 and celebrates

The Scandinavian Symphony Orchestra will give a concert commemorating its 60th consecutive season at 8 p.m. Saturday at the Smith Theatre, Oakland Community College, Orchard Ridge Campus, Farmington Hills.

The program will include Symphony No. 2 in D Major and "Finlandia" by Jean Sibelius, Finnish composer, and Haydn's Trumpet Concerto in E-Flat Major with Tage Larsen, soloist.

The guest conductor will be Dai Uk Lee, a native of Seoul, Korea and graduate of Juilliard School of Music. Maestro Lee studied under Herbert Blomstedt.

Tickets are $7 ($5 for seniors and students under 10). They will be available at the door. To reserve, call the Scandinavian Symphony, 535-1330 or 644-9203.

Young musicians take center stage

Young performers will test their talents with the Pontiac Oakland Symphony and the music of the masters at 3 p.m. Sunday, at Varner Recital Hall, Oakland University, Rochester.

Oakland University Junior Kristen Cottrell, will conduct the opening third movement of Joseph Reinberger's organ Concerto No. 2, op. 177 G Minor.

Graduate student Shari Flore is also organist and choirmaster at St. Paul Episcopal Church, Romance.

OU senior Kathy Zuziak's compositions will be sung by graduate voice student Janet Haney, soprano, who also teaches music at Pontiac Northern High School.

Graduate student Annette Kline will conduct while OU sophomore Judith Teasdale, a graduate of Interlochen Arts Academy, will perform Beethoven's Romance No. 1 in G Major for Violin and Orchestra.

RETURNING TO the podium for a second year, OU student soprano Lisa LaForrest will sing a selection from Mozart's "The Marriage of Figaro." LaForrest was also seen in the Symphony's recent Evening with Lerner and Loewe cabaret concert.

Terrance Farmer, a graduate assistant at Oakland University majoring in conducting, will lead the first movement, Rapsodie, from Ernest Bloch's Suite Hebraique, for Viola and Orchestra, featuring OU Sophomore music major Ramon Garza.

OU senior William Harris will conduct his composition "Waking in Winter" premiered by the Symphony in 1986 and earning its composer the OU Distinguished Undergraduate Achievement Award that same year.

University senior Richard Cucel, who also serves as the organist at St. Hugo of the Hills, will perform Camille Saint-Saens' majestic Symphony No. 3 in C Minor, known as the Organ Symphony as the final concert number.

Tickets for the Young Artists Concert are $8.50 for general admission; $5 for students and senior citizens. For tickets, call the Symphony office, 334-6024.

'Artists Choose Artists'

The exhibition which opens at Detroit Focus Gallery Friday features sculpture by Janet Ayako Nouwawder, Albert Young and John Running-Johnson. The artists were chosen by a review committee of gallery artists. Pictured at left is "Bardge," 72 by 109 by 16 inches by Running-Johnson. It is wood, glass and stone. Opening reception is 5:30-8:30 p.m. Friday. The show continues through March 17. Hours are noon to 6 p.m. Wednesday-Saturday, 743 Beaubien, Detroit.

Lot of variety in OU concerts

Concerts at the Oakland University Center for the Arts this month range from an internationally renowned Austrian pianist to the Oakland Collegium Musicum performing works from the Alps.

Austrian Jorg Demus will open the Center for the Arts Virtuoso Piano series with an 8 p.m. Friday, Feb. 16, concert in Varner Recital Hall.

Demus is coming to Oakland directly from Vienna for his only metropolitan Detroit performance during his North American tour.

The Masterworks of Vienna program will consist of Haydn's Andante Con Variazioni in F Minor, Beethoven's Sonata in F Minor, Op. 2, No. 1 and Sonata No. 31 in A-Flat, Op. 110, Schubert's Fantasy in C Major, Op. 15, D. 760, Alban Berg's Sonata in B Minor, Op. 1 and Mozart's Fantasy in C Minor, K. 475.

Demus is the current holder, for life, of the coveted Beethoven Ring, an honor bestowed by the Vienna Beethoven Society.

Tickets are $12 general admission, $6 for senior citizens and students, and $5 for OU students.

The Collegium Musicum will be in concert with the Oakland Chorale at 8 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 22,

In Varner Recital Hall. The program, "Music from the Alps," will consist of early music from the German Alps.

The program will focus on music written during the flowering of German polyphony under Holy Roman Emperor Maximilian I. All music will be performed on modern reproductions of early instruments.

The Collegium Musicum will be directed by Joel Frederiksen.

Tickets are $3 general admission and $2 for senior citizens and students.

Sheri Nichols and pianist Richard Berent will perform at 8 p.m. Saturday, Feb. 24, in Varner Recital Hall in the program Celebrated Chanteuse.

Following the concert, the audience may meet the performers at a reception in the Bistro 75 restaurant within the Holiday Inn of Auburn Hills.

Tickets are $10 general admission, $5 for senior citizens and students, and $4 for OU students.
