PO-BOX Drugs

Questions should be sent to the Community Commission on Drug Abuse, P.O. Box 700, Livonia, Mich. 48151.

Q. I've heard a lot of talk that someone could put heroin or LSD on marijuana and that you could get hooked on them that way. Is this true or just scare talk?

M.S. Westland

A. It is true that marijuana sometimes is laced in this way. It is not true that you can get hooked - that is to say addicted - on LSD. However, both of these drugs can produce an effect in the manner you describe.

For example, if there's enough LSD on the marijuana, you could trip out without even lighting up. Remember that the effects of LSD were discovered by a doctor who had accidentally touched a microscopic amount of the drug to his lips and began to hallucinate.

As for heroin, it's just one of the opium derivatives, and opium has been smoked for centuries for a high with resultant addictions.

Q. I believe that marijuana should be legalized, and don't care if I get busted. What's wrong with fighting for your rights?

D.L., Livonia

A. It's probably a matter of priorities. The radical, Jane Fonda, undoubtedly feels the same way you do. But she quit, and recently stated that there are better things to get busted for. At a time when there are people starving within an hour's drive from where you live, fighting for pot is where it's not. Again, it's a matter of priorities.

Q. Do you answer anonymous questions?

Anonymous, Redford

A. You bet.

Q. The other week you talked about not being able to judge a capsule from its appearance. I've seen some really fancy capsules being passed around here lately. Is this something new?

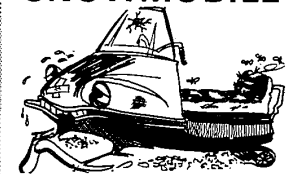

R.V., Livonia

A. Yes, you are witnessing a relatively new phenomenon. Here's what's happening:

It's so commonly known that any sale of empty capsules will be diverted to putting up dangerous drugs that even little old ladies in tennis shoes have trouble buying them. As a result, prescription medication is being obtained, the distinctive-looking capsules are emptied and refilled with dangerous drugs.

This is more expensive, obviously, but the pusher's profit is so high that it's really no great problem for him. "What you see is what you get" does not apply to the drug traffic.
