It's not unheard of for children to complain "There's nothing to do."

The arrival of summer and the end of the school year mean children have more time on their hands. Boredom and complaints can soon follow.

It doesn't have to be that way, however. Plenty of summertime activities for kids are available, and many are either free of charge or inexpensive. What follows is just a sampling.

DETROIT ZOO

The Detroit Zoo, 8450 W. 10 Mile at Woodward in Royal Oak, is open seven days a week in the summer. Hours are 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily, 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Sundays and holidays through Sept. 3.

There's plenty to see, including many exhibits: the penguinarium, aviary, Holden Museum of Living Reptiles, bear dens, farmyard, elephant and rhinoceros exhibit, marine mammal exhibit and others.

A miniature railroad operates through Labor Day. Guided tours of the zoo, via tractor trains, are available Wednesday through Sunday during the summer.

Saturday, July 7, will be "Hot Dog Day" at the zoo, with each visitor receiving a free hot dog. Beginning July 9, children age 12 and under will be admitted free each Monday through Aug. 27 when accompanied by an adult family member.

Other special summertime activities at the zoo include a model boat regatta Saturday, July 14, featuring a display of miniature power boats in the Rackham Fountain; Saturday, July 28, a firefighters' rally, featuring a thrill show, clown and team competition at noon, free with zoo admission; Saturday, July 20, "Ice Cream Day," with zoo visitors receiving free ice cream.

All zoo buildings and exhibits are accessible to those in wheelchairs. The zoo has a picnic area and snack/souvenir stands. Roller chairs and "kid kabs" (similar to strollers) are available for rental.

Admission price is $5 for those age 13 and up, $3.50 for senior citizens (age 62 and older), $2.50 for children ages 5-12, free for those age 4 and under who are supervised. (Group rates are available. For reservations, call 399-7001.)

The zoo's information line, 390-0900, includes recorded tapes on zoo activities.

ANN ARBOR MUSEUM

The Ann Arbor Hands-On Museum, 219 E. Huron in Ann Arbor, is open 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

June is "Visual Illusions Month" at the museum, and visitors will examine visual illusions and their effects. Their uses in advertising, as toys and as mysteries will be explored. Demonstrations will be at 1 and 3 p.m. Saturdays, 2 and 4 p.m. Sundays, and are free with the price of admission.

The museum will also offer Art Fair activities, giving parents a chance to browse at the fair while their children have fun at the museum. The program for children ages 5-12 will include supervised time in each museum gallery, a movie and snacks. Price is $15 per child per session. Enrollment is limited and advance registration is required.

Sessions will be held: 1:30-4:30 p.m. Wednesday, July 18; 1:30-4:30 p.m. Thursday, July 19; 1:30-4:30 p.m. Friday July 20; and 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. Saturday, July 21. For registration information, call 995-5439.

The museum will offer a Summer

Leapin' into Summer

Kids can find plenty to do

Science Camp June 18 through Aug. 17, with most sessions to be held at Mack School, 920 Miller, Ann Arbor. The program will include week-long morning and afternoon classes for children ages 4-5, an evening math workshop for families, and classes three mornings per week for children ages 4-5. Advance registration is required, and will be done on a first-come, first-served basis according to when payment is received.

The museum, located in a renovated historic firehouse, has more than 160 participatory exhibits designed to help visitors learn about science, art, math and other subjects.

Admission price is $3 for adults, $2 for children, students and senior citizens, $7.50 for a family. For more information, call 995-5439.

LIVING SCIENCE

The Living Science Foundation offers a variety of programs to help children learn about science while having fun. Summertime camps feature hands-on activities.

Summertime offerings include: Science Sampler Camps; Science and Nature Camps; Air and Space Camps; Marine Biology Camps; Jungle Camps; Discovery Camps; and an Ecological Awareness Camp. Camps are held at locations throughout the metropolitan Detroit area, and activities are offered both for pre-school and school-age children. Some camps will be held at Living Science Foundation headquarters, 4040 Grand River, Suite F, Novi.

Advance registration is required for camps. For more information, call the Living Science Foundation, 478-1999.

CRANBROOK

The Cranbrook Institute of Science is at 500 Lone Pine, Bloomfield Hills. It is open 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Thursday, 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. Friday and Saturday, 1-5 p.m. Sunday.

Saturday, June 16, will be opening day for "The Summer of Oz" exhibit at Cranbrook. The exhibit is designed to help people of all ages experience the magic of a favorite fairy tale while exploring the world of science. On July 14-15, there will be an "Oz Odyssey Weekend." Science discovery experiments from 5 p.m. each day will be related to Oz themes. On Aug. 11-12, "The Wizard of Oz" will include a dramatic stage skill, "The Wiz in Me." There will also be "The Wiz Wanders" along the nature trails, and "The Wiz/Oz Music Mix," performances of original songs from "The Wiz" and "The Wonderful Wizard of Oz." Activities will take place 11:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Aug. 11-12.

July 28-29, "Characters of Oz Weekend" will focus on the variety of characters in the story, and will include a contemporary version of Tin Man, a Tin Man Robot who will converse with visitors.

The Oz exhibit will continue through Sept. 2 at Cranbrook. It will include laser shows, hands-on physics experiments, activities for preschoolers in Munchkin Land, an interactive light exhibit, and other fun activities.

Museum admission price is $4 for adults, $3 for senior citizens, students and children ages 3-17. Admission is free of charge for children under 3. Group rates are available weekdays by prior arrangement.

The museum, accessible to those in wheelchairs, will be open daily except for July 4. For more information, call 645-3230.

SUMMER FESTIVAL

Children's activities are planned for the Ann Arbor Summer Festival, including a series of three Sunday afternoon events. Each day will begin at noon with free outdoor performances on the Power Center lawn and hands-on activities at the Top of the Park (plaza level) of the Fletcher Street parking deck. Those will be followed by an indoor, ticketed matinee performance at 2 p.m. in the Power Center, on the University of Michigan campus.

Ann Arbor's own Chennille Sisters will kick off the indoor matinee series with "1-2-3 for Kids" Sunday, July 30 and Aug. 14.

A camp for preschoolers and kindergartners will be offered in three or five half-day sessions. Sessions will be planned around weekly themes, and will include sports, arts and crafts activities, and field trips.

A full-day camp will be offered for children in kindergarten through fifth grade in three or five days. Sports, nature study, arts and crafts, drama and an overnight stay at Tamarack will be included.

"Camper's Choice" participants in fourth through ninth grades will choose their own activities from a list including sports, computers, fine arts and other activities.

Safari (fifth and sixth grades) and Teen Caravan (seventh through 10th grades) campers will visit places of interest in metropolitan Detroit, including a Detroit Tigers outing and Bobo Island trip. Teen will take a three-day trip to Kings Island near Cincinnati, Ohio.

In cooperation with Akiva Day School, a special day camp will be offered for children of Orthodox families. Extended day care is available for most campers. For information on all Jewish Community Center camps, call 661-1000 Ext. 254.

SUMMER WORKSHOPS

Special workshops are offered during June, July and August at the Detroit Historical Museum, 5401 Woodward, Detroit. Workshops for organized groups of 15 or more may be scheduled by calling Walter Weaver, 633-1263.

In the "Colonial Kitchen" workshop, participants will churn butter, grind spices, make sachet pillows and examine kitchen utensils from colonial times. In another workshop, participants will make ice cream. The "Old-Fashioned Pomander" workshop gives children a chance to use citrus fruits and spices to make pomanders.

The museum's current exhibit, "From Bunny Suits to Business Suits: Detroit Goes to Work," features a variety of work costumes worn in the past 100 years. The museum is open 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday through Sunday, and admission is free of charge. For more information, call 633-1005.

JCC DAY CAMP

Day camps for kids of all ages will be available in two summer sessions at the Jewish Community Center, 6600 W. Maple at Drake, West Bloomfield. Sessions are scheduled for June 25 through July 19 and July 23 through Aug. 16. Transportation is available.

CHILDREN'S DAY

Children's Day is sponsored each year by the University Cultural Association, and will be held at the Cultural Center area, 27 in Detroit's Cultural Center area. The entertainment will be headquartered in the Detroit Historical Museum parking lot, on Kirby.

Characters from "The Teenage Mutant Ninja Turtles" will appear at the museum. Entertainment will be hosted by the Clark Family Circus, and will feature Prunzinka, a Czechoslovakian puppet theater ensemble, and storytelling by Catherine Blackwell, an African/African-American specialist with the Detroit Public Schools.

Admission price for the museum or village is $10.50 each for adults, $2.50 for children ages 5-12, $2.50 for senior citizens, free for children younger than 5. The day's activities will begin with a 9:40 a.m. parade from the Scarab Club. "Be a Hero... Bring a Hero" will be the theme for the day's activities. That theme will be expressed in a free coloring book depicting Detroit heroes, available from the museum. Refreshments will be available. Children's Day activities are scheduled to end at 3:30 p.m.

The Detroit Institute of Arts, 5200 Woodward, Detroit, will also participate in the International Freedom Festival Children's Day. A Cinema Canada matinee presentation of "Babar: The Movie" is scheduled for 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. Wednesday, June 27, in the DIA auditorium. (Those attending should use the John R theater entrance.) Admission is free of charge.

The animated feature-length film tells the story of King Babar, Queen Celeste, their children and friends. The movie is based on the classic "Babar" books by Laurent de Brunhoff, and is a project of Toronto's Nelvana Productions.

The film is being presented by the DIA, Detroit Renaissance Foundation and the Consulate General of Canada. For more information, call 259-5400 or 833-2323.

The DIA is open 9:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Tuesday through Sunday, and is closed for major holidays.

HENRY FORD MUSEUM

Henry Ford Museum and Greenfield Village are at Oakwood Boulevard and Village Road in Dearborn, just west of Southfield (M-39) and south of Michigan Avenue. Hours are 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. daily.

"Americans on Vacation" is the subject of a new exhibit at the museum. The 400-plus historic objects featured trace the evolution of phases of a vacation: planning, getting there, being there and remembering.

Scrapbooks, home movies created by vacationers, a 19th century steno-graph and other items are featured in the exhibit, which will continue through Labor Day 1991.

Many summertime activities are planned in Greenfield Village, including a Saturday and Sunday, June 16-17, "Motor Muster." Autos from 1930 through 1959 will cruise village streets to the sound of tunes of the time.

The mechanization of the late 19th and early 20th century will be remembered during the Saturday and Sunday, June 30-July 1, "Pageant of Power." Visitors will see engines performing a variety of tasks that once required tedious labor.

The Fourth of July will be celebrated at the village with music and games. Aspects of life in America 200 years ago will be the inspiration for the Saturday and Sunday, July 7-8, "Colonial Life Festival." Fire and drum music, encampment activities, crafts demonstrations and people dressed in colonial fashions will be featured.

A "Fire Engine Muster" will be held Saturday and Sunday, July 21-22. Antique firefighting equipment enthusiasts will gather for a weekend of competition and fun. "African-American Weekend" will be observed Saturday and Sunday, Aug. 18-19, with music, dance, crafts and storytelling.

Admission price for the museum or village is $10.50 each for adults, $2.50 for children ages 5-12, $2.50 for senior citizens, free for children younger than 5.
