

A cheery bunch

North Farmington High School's varsity cheerleaders placed first in Home Cheer for the third year in a row at the Michigan State Summer Camp earlier this year. The squad also took first in the overall team competition. North's junior varsity cheerleading team captured two first-place awards, and the freshman team took two seconds. The

Plans for stadium subject of rumors

Could the Detroit Tigers' new home be built on Livonia's western limits?

Maybe but don't reserve your parking space yet.

While local officials say they've heard nothing from the club, some observers are speculating that western Wayne County is the area now favored over Dearborn as a site for a new Tiger Stadium.

Some suggest that Tiger officials could favor a location where major freeways meet, such as M-14 and I-75 in Plymouth Township. But Bill Haase, Tigers vice president for operations, said that's just speculation.

Asked if Plymouth Township would be a good place to build a stadium, Haase said, "Obviously those locations are nice to look at but that doesn't mean they're the only ones. We haven't ruled out Detroit."

He said it's important to put a new stadium in a location that provides easy access and provides "comfort and security for our fans."

ARE THE Tigers considering a site in Plymouth Township? "I don't want to identify any of the sites we're looking at," Haase said, adding the club has set no time frame for announcing a new stadium site.

Township government and police officials say they're aware of the speculation that a new stadium is being considered for western Wayne County.

"I have no idea where they would put it," said Plymouth Township Supervisor Maurice Breen, adding, "My personal opinion is that it belongs in Detroit."

A possibly suitable area for a stadium is the site of the former St. John Seminary in Plymouth Township, on 175 acres at Five Mile and Sheldon.

But while the Archdiocese of Detroit which owns the land has signed an agreement to sell the property, church spokeswoman Brenda Marshall declined to identify the buyer, or rule out the Tigers as the potential buyer.

"We just never comment on that,"

"Obviously, it would be good for the business community," said Plymouth Mayor Dennis Bile. "But it would add to traffic and congestion and related problems. I'd rather have it a little farther away."

Echoing Breen, Bile added, "I don't see where there's that much available land — It seems rather developed to me."

He hates sports? Okay. Get him a TV Shirt, a Paperback Shirt, a Napping Shirt, or our new Valid Insights Shirt.

Who needs golf, rugby, or polo to be truly happy. Well, yes, it is a somewhat radical view, but consider the possibility that each person has his own kind of challenges and his own way of keeping score. There are victories waiting for each of us in special places in special ways. And there's no reason we can't dress to suit the moment. Come and talk with us about his favorite non-sports activity and we'll show you the non-sports shirt we think he'll like best. And keep this in mind: if the day ever comes that he decides, say, to play a little touch football, he can always pop on his old Snacking Shirt.
