DENNIS HORN of Farmington Hills received the James C. Lifto Commitment to Excellence Award from Boysville of Michigan's Clinton Campus.

The intent of the award is to acknowledge those co-workers at Boysville Clinton campus who best exemplify the goals Boysville's staff strive to achieve in their daily work. Boysville of Michigan, established in 1948, is a non-profit Catholic agency directed by the Brothers of Holy Cross. It offers treatment services for referring agencies to over 600 Michigan and Ohio youths on a daily basis.

HELEN SUE HOWARD of Farmington Hills was promoted to account executive at Anthony M. Franco Inc., public relations counselors, according to Michael Niedorquell, executive vice president.

In her new position, Howard will continue to service the firm's consumer and business accounts. Prior to joining the Franco firm, Howard was an account executive at a suburban Detroit public relations firm, and served as communications assistant for the North American International Auto Show in Detroit.

HOWARD MOROF, a certified public accountant from Farmington Hills joined the Taxation Committee for the Greater Detroit Chamber of Commerce. His responsibilities include advising the chamber with local, state and federal tax issues that affect Southeast Michigan.

Morof is a partner in the accounting firm Morof, Sheplew, Weinstein & Co. He specializes in business planning for closely held corporations and their owners.

BRIAN JONES of Farmington Hills has been elected to the Board of Trustees for The National Kidney Foundation of Michigan. The election is for a two-year term.

Jones' achievements reflect many years of dedicated service. He is president of Cellular One in Farmington Hills.

He has been an avid supporter of The National Kidney Foundation of Michigan through the annual fund raiser, the Cellular One/Detroit Tiger Alumni Golf Classic.

As a trustee, Jones will continue to play a major role in directing the agency in the areas of program development, fund raising, financial management and educational projects.

Items for Farmington Achievers may be mailed to the Farmington Observer, 21808 Farmington Road, Farmington 48336, or dropped off at the newspaper office.

THE CHILD WHO COUGHS

A child's cough may be due to the common cold, however, a cough lasting longer than a few weeks merits further investigation.

Possible causes of a persistent cough vary. A bronchitis cough may develop from infection. Allergies can cause coughing from drainage and irritation down the back of the throat, referred to as "allergic post-nasal drip." Some infections in children often abate with continuous coughing that typically worsens when lying down. Asthma, cough or "respiratory allergy" is often brought on by cold air, exercise, excitement or respiratory infections. Children who have an asthma cough often are allergic.

As Allergy and Asthma specialists, we can assist in properly diagnosing the source of your child's persistent cough and apply improved therapy to relieve those symptoms.
