

FAMILY FAIRELET'S TALK*CBS takes a look at TV's classics

By Amy Schmidt

All in the Family, The Mary Tyler Moore Show and The Ed Sullivan Show were three of the best programs ever to air on American television. They were the kind of programs you weren't afraid to let your kids watch — the kind of programs to which the whole family sat down faithfully every week with a bowl of popcorn and tuned in.

Feb. 16, 17 and 18, many of the cast members of these three shows will reunite for a very special look back at classic television on CBS. Feb. 16 marked the 20th anniversary of All in the Family, which starred Carroll O'Connor, Jean Stapleton, Rob Reiner and Sally Struthers. Initially created by TV executives, All in the Family finally premiered on Jan. 12, 1971, and lasted seven years.

Carol Burnett will host The New Best of the Ed Sullivan Show Sunday, Feb. 17. Film clips of celebrities who have appeared on the show during the course of its 23-year run will include Elvis Presley, The Beatles, Angie Gleason, Pearl Bailey, The Rolling Stones, Lucille Ball and Dick Van Dyke, and George Burns and Gracie Allen.

Finally, Monday, Feb. 18, Mary Tyler Moore will join Ed Asner, Valerie Harper, Betty White and Gavin McLeod for Mary Tyler Moore: The 20th Anniversary Special. The original show aired September 1970 and continued until 1977.

Q: Could you please tell me when Wheel of Fortune first came on the air, and who has the hosts been over the years? —Milton Lambert, Gilmer, Texas

A: The syndicated game show Wheel of Fortune premiered in January, 1975. Chuck Woolery hosted the show from 1975 to 1982, when Pat Sajak took over. Susan Stafford assisted Woolery until the fall of 1982, when she was succeeded by Vanna White. In 1989 Rolf Benirschke took over the daytime version of the show, while Sajak continued as host of the nighttime version. Vanna soon replaced Rolf with Bob Goen.

Q: I need some questions answered. Is the actor Chris Sarandon married? Does he have any children? Did he play in two movies that recently came out on regular TV, This Child Is Mine and Coming Home? —Heidi Saily, Mass. City, Mich.

A: Yes, Chris Sarandon is married, and he is the father of an 8-year-old daughter, Stephanie. He co-starred in the NBC movie This Child Is Mine in 1985. I do not have him listed as a member of the cast in Coming Home. Actors in Coming Home include Jane Fonda, Jon Voight, Bruce Dern, Robert Carradine and Robert Duvall.

A: Richard Beymer did not do his own singing in West Side Story. Jimmy Bryant provided the voice for Richard's songs. He and Russ Tamblyn have been appearing on the ABC series Twin Peaks. Tamblyn as Dr. Lawrence Jacoby and Beymer as Benjamin Horne. Write to Michael Landon, 10202 W. Washington Blvd., Culver City, CA 90232.

A: I just had to answer your letter Amanda, it was well written and I must confess, I like Angela Lansbury, too. I will send you two addresses — write to both to be sure she will receive it.
