"It was close enough to give it to "It was close enough to give it to the local kid." said Soucy, who helped stage the event along with the Livonia Jaycees. "The first round Rob won going away, and the second round I gave him a slight edge. There were no standing eight-counts or knockdowns.

"The third round definitely went to him (Goins), but that's always been a problem in Rob's career, the third round conditioning."

IF DIFFANBAUGH could have IF DIFFANDAUGH could have continued his bobbing, weaving and jabbing ways of the first round, he may have won the bout and advanced to Friday's Golden Gloves semilinals at the Coleman Young Center in Detroit.

"If I had beaten him (Goins), I think I could go all the way because he's the toughest in the class," Diffanbaugh said. "The first round I was mentally right there. The first two rounds I felt good. I thought I had the first two rounds, but my legs sort of got cramped up in the third. I thought I could win. Maybe I need more road work. I feel good about it except for the third round. It was a close decision, a tough fight." Dilfanbaugh's opponent said, "It took me awhile to try and figure him out.

took me awhite to try aim 10-10-10.
"I tried everything, but I saw that to [Ollfanbaugh] started to get thred so I just had to keep going," said Goins, who competes out of the Brewer Recreation Center in Description. "It was not easy, believe me."
Both fighters are looking to turn soon.

Both fighters are looking to turn pro soon.

"I might look for another amateur fight (perhaps the Ohio State Falr) and then go pro," said Diffanbaugh, who is 31-9 overall. "I don't want to make excuss. He's a tough fighter in a tough class of guys."

LIVONIA SENT three other fighters to the ring, all in the novice class. A first water of the Livoclass. A first water of the Livond for the Livond for signed Shane Hanke of Southgate on noints.

Despite winning, Chang was his own worst critice.

"He (Hanke) caught me with more jabs than 1 wanted him to," said Chang, who advances to Friday's semilinats. "I've got to learn to throw more punches and use the right hand. I also stopped when I got that and let my temper (in the first round) get the best of me."

A native of Williamswile, N.Y., a suburb of Buffalo, Chang, now 2-1 coverall in his young career, was cheered on by some of bits classmates at U-M.

His trainers, Johnny Moore and Bill Clements, were also pleased with the outcome.

with the outcome.

"HE (SOO-YOUNG) worked his jab and that was his most effective weapon," Moore said. "He used the jab, and then the right hand, and it pald off."

Added Clemenis: "Soo hung in there with a lot of heart. He's a smart fighter, a college student. I thought there was a heek of a lot improvement. Tonight he capitalized the didn't throw enough punches."

A strong work eithe has also carried Chang, according to his trainer. "He's busted his butt and listened real well," Clements said. "He works like hell, a hard worker. He's an amiable kid, quiet and shy."

The action was fast and furious for the most part.

The most impressive victory was scored by 21-year-old Gerry Figiomeni, who defeated Detroit Kronk's Ferdell Pitts on points in the 122 Open Division.

Figliomeni, who grew up in Schreiber, Ontario (near Thunder Bay), trains out of the Atlas Club in Toronto, file has an unusual background for a fighter.

"IT FEELS good because it's the second time I've beaten somebody from Kronk," said Figliomeni, ranked among the top three in his class in Canada, said said, and the stage man of Filame, owns several companies (fine light pockey), said Figliomeni, who is eyeling a spot on the Canadian National Team.

Tartars top Madonna

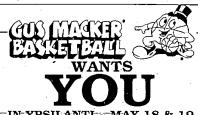

The trip Madonna University's softball team took south toopen the season was delightful. Winning seven-of-10 games on such a jourqey is usually remembered foundly.

The games after weren't such a happy experience.
The Lady Crusaders lost a pair Wednesday to perennial Great Lakes Inter-collegiate Athletic Conference power Wayne State, getting shellacked 14-0 in the opener and edged 3-2 in the finale, in Detroit. It gave them three losses in four games since their return. Nothing much of worth surfaced for Madonna in the opener, a five-inning mercy. Losing pitcher Joann Donehay was tagged for 11 hits and all 14 runs, walking four and striking out one in four innings. Cheryl Cameron got the win for the Lady Tartars, stifling the Crusaders on two hits and a walk. fanning four.

Will for the Loyal and the American and the American and the Second and seven in the third. Christy Garrett was a one-player arsenal: three hits in three trips, three runs scored and three runs batted in. Holly Brachel and Cheryl Baker accounted for Madonan's only hits, both singles.

THE NIGHTCAP was a different story. Janet, Bietila, from Redford Union, kept the Tartars bottled up with a seven-hitter, but two unearned runs in the fifth beat Nations, and the right time." said Madonna coach Dave Racer, whose team slipped to 8.6. "We had them on the ropes in the third inning, but we couldn't put them away."

The Crusaders scored twice in the third, with Angie Vandyke safe on an error with one out and Megan Armstrong reaching base on a fielder's choice, and the same of the sa
