A flag for Marian-Oakland West

Howard Dodds (above), secretary for Fleet Reserve of Detroit, presents a flag and a plaque to Marian-Oakland West honoring all of the veterans now living in the Farmington Hills home. Alma Mathews (at right), who served in the Army Nurse Corps during World War II and is the oldest veteran in the home, holds the flag that once flew over the USS Arizona's memorial in Pearl Harbor. The Arizona was sunk in Pearl Harbor on Dec. 7, 1941.

Annual concert honors seniors, handicapped

The Farmington Community Band, in cooperation with the Farmington Area Arts Commission and Farmington Public Schools, will host their annual concert honoring handicapped and senior citizens at 3 p.m. Sunday, May 5, in Harrison High School, 29995 12 Mile.

The "25th Anniversary Celebration" concert will feature many popular pieces enjoyed by band audiences over the last 25 years, including music of John Philip Sousa, G. Rossini, music from Broadway shows, "way back when," and even a few spoofs that promise to be a lot of fun.

The concert is presented with the combined efforts of many community organizations. Residents of Farmington area nursing homes are the honored guests. They receive free transportation to and from the concert provided by Farmington Public Schools transportation and the many bus drivers volunteering their time. Assisting on the buses are members of various service organizations in Farmington.

When the guests of honor arrive, they are invited to indulge in home made goodies and punch provided by band members and served by members of the band's board of directors, friends, neighbors and relatives who just enjoy being a part of the day.

The band has been hosting a concert in honor of Farmington's handicapped and senior adults for 10 years. Sharon Bernath, who has played clarinet in the band for the last 18 years and served on the board of directors in many different capacities, doesn't seem to mind the extra work involved in presenting such a concert.

"It's our way of giving something back to the community that has been so supportive over the years," she said.

The audience is not limited to residents of Farmington area nursing homes. Everyone is welcome. Admission is free.

Class prepares for exam to get builder's license

The Michigan Builders Institute, in cooperation with Farmington Community Education program will offer a 16 hour evening seminar to prepare people to pass the Michigan state builders' licensing examination.

The seminar will be on Mondays and Wednesdays, May 6, 8, 13 and 15 in Farmington School Center, 30415 Shawwassee St., Farmington.

The course is designed for people in the building trades who are now working without a license who want to obtain one, as well as for those who want to build their own homes. The cost of the seminar is $130 per person and includes all materials.

Pre-registration is required no later than Friday, May 3 to Farmington Community Education, 489-3333.

The course instructor is a licensed builder with extensive experience teaching builders' pre-licensing classes. The co-owner of a residential building company, he is able to answer questions related to all facets of home building.
