Light That's Lost

Users of electric light frequently fail to get full candlepower from their lamps, due to neglect to keep them clean.

Dust allowed to accumulate on lamps or shades may absorb as much as 50 per cent of the light. A damp cloth applied once a week would save this loss—your eyesight as well.

Another source of light-loss is blackening of the lamps on the inside, due to too long use.

These should be returned for exchange.
