ten by two eighth grade girls:

What I Want To Be; and Why.
Irma L. Currin

When I grow up I would like to run a floral shop. Having green houses and a floral shop in some city or village.

Why I want to be a person who runs a floral shop is that it is something Mother Nature herself made. There isn't anything healthy about being shut up in a small office or in a hot miserable factory. Mother Nature didn't make flowers or ferns or anything that goes with a person who is in the floral business to harm people. But she did make them to help comfort people and make the life they are living a happy one. I would rather help people than do them harm so I will stay with Mother Nature and go to the floral business.

What I Want To Be and Why
Wanda E. Currin

When I grow up I wish to be a student and teacher of Nature.
Why I wish to study Nature is because it brings nearer to one the wonderful outdoor. Nature that God made and gave to us.

There isn't a thing on earth that isn't worth something. God made nature to help us. So I would like to be one of the many people that study nature. To find how and why Mother Nature made birds, flowers, and trees as she did. Birds, flowers, and trees were made also to give beauty, health and grace to this earth.

TEST COWS SHOW HIGH PRODUCTION AVERAGES

Average production records for 25,000 cows under official test in Michigan cow testing associations during 1925 were 7,559 pounds of milk and 292 pounds of butterfat, according to figures just released by the dairy extension men at the Michigan State College.

More than 800 herds in the state averaged over 300 pounds of butterfat per cow, and prediction is made, by A. C. Baltzer, in charge of the cow testing work, that herds in the state test associations will average above the 300 mark in the future. High marks made in the cow test herds are taken as evidence of what can be done by correct feeding, care, and selection of dairy animals.

Broad View of Charity

Shall we repine at a little misplaced charity, we who could no way foresee the effect, when an all-knowing, all wise Being showers down every day His benefits on the unthankful and undeserving?—Atterbury.

Catastrophe

One hundred poets read their poems before a throng during a contest in Wales recently, but the prize was withheld because of poor quality of the effusions.

Way to Foul Hunger

If we are industrious we shall never starve, for, as poor Richard says, at the working man's house hunger looks in but dares not enter.—Benjamin Franklin.

"Joe's going in for aviation now."
"That's not strange. He always did act flighty to me."

Elevators at Niagara

To replace the Beddell stairway leading to the "Rock of Ages" and the "Cave of the Winds" at Niagara Falls, a 200-foot tunnel connecting with a shaft 107 feet deep has been constructed, says Popular Mechanics Magazine.

The shaft was dug straight down from the surface of Goat Island and contains two electric elevators, surrounded by a spiral stairway.

The mouth of the tunnel opens directly upon the whirlpool, and a peninsula built of rock removed from the excavations affords a close inspection of the falls. It has been named "Clearwater View." A structure on top of the shaft provides quarters for sightseers as well as space for the elevator apparatus.
The new passages did not cost the state a penny, as all funds were taken from fees paid by tourists.

The cheapest and best advertising medium—An Enterprise liner.

Razor 3,600 Years Old
A bronze razor with a wooden handle has been unearthed by excavators at Ur of the Chaldees. It is supposed to date back to the Seventeenth or Eighteenth century B. C., and so far as known is the oldest shaving instrument in existence.—Pathfinder Magazine.
