WHERE THE BIG NOISE IS HEARD

The Michigan State Digest, a Groesbeck emergency organ, states that Oakland county will go 4 to 1 for Groesbeck "because of his interest in Wider Woodward Avenue."

Wider Woodward Avenue may be a pulling card for the governor among citizens residing within that strip of territory through which it passes, extending from Detroit city limits to Pontiac, but possibly may not appeal so strongly to citizens of other sections of the county receiving no direct benefit from the improvement which they are helping to pay for.

There is no disputing the fact that wider Woodward is a fine thing and if those receiving direct benefits by reason of the improvement were paying a just proportion of the cost there might be some reason to expect a loud roar in Oakland county for a fourth term for the governor. As it is the big noise seems to be confined to the Woodward territory.

FARMINGTON NOT WORRYING OVER WATER SUPPLY

Smaller cities in every section of the state are complaining of a short water supply and in several of them the situation is serious. Eventually it will be necessary for the entire territory surrounding Detroit and extending to Port Huron on the north to join in the proposed Lake Huron water supply district and secure water from that lake. Meanwhile, Farmington with its bountiful supply of pure water derived from a number of wells that tap a deep gravel deposit, is without worry. It is estimated that the supply here is practically inexhaustible. The water is far better than can be drawn from any of the big lakes and this advantage is worth considering by those who are seeking a place for erecting a new home.

The present wells are sufficient to supply water for domestic sprinkling and other purposes for a population several times larger than that now being served.

APPLE CROP MENACED BY RETURN OF MAGGOT

The apple maggot is back again. Adult flies of this year's brood emerged in Ingham County on July 15, and word is being sent out from the Michigan State College that now is the time to make spray applications for control of this fruit pest.

The damage from apple maggot is done by the burrowing of the larvae in the flesh of the apple. Fruit infested with the maggot drops from the tree; the maggots get into the soil and pass the winter in the resting stage. During June and July, the fly comes out ready to lay eggs in the apple. This is the time to apply sprays.

All apples, except early varieties which are too near picking time, should be sprayed immediately with a spray made up of one and one-half pounds of dry powdered lead arsenate to 50 gallons of water. Orchards in northern Michigan may be sprayed a little later. Stock which will eat the infested apples which fall from the trees should be run in the orchards, or the fallen apples picked up daily and fed to stock.

Professor R. H. Pettit, Michigan State College, states that these control measures will successfully combat this pest which has reappeared in numbers after an absence of twenty-five years. The larvae of the apple maggot may be easily distinguished from that of the common codling moth. The codling moth larvae has six legs and a distinct brownish colored head. The larvae of the apple maggot has no legs and no distinct head.

FARM DAY PROGRAM DETAILS ANNOUNCED

Details of the program for the annual summer Farmers Day, to be held at M. S. C. on Friday, July 30, have been announced this week at the college.

John A. Doelle, former commissioner of the state department of agriculture and at present executive secretary of the Michigan real estate association, will deliver the main address at the afternoon meeting, taking the general subject of "Michigan" for his theme.

Other speakers on this program will include Hon. L. Whitney Watkins, present state commissioner of agriculture. Band concerts, a special horse pulling contest, and a singing contest are other features listed for the afternoon program, which will be under the campus trees.

BELLE BARCUS PLAYERS HERE ALL NEXT WEEK

The Belle Barcus Players open a week's engagement in Farmington starting Monday, July 26. The company is said to be much larger than heretofore both in personnel and equipment.

The plays presented this season are all new including such well known successes as "Lightnin'," "The Knottin' All," "Chicken Feed" and several others equally as good. As usual a strong line-up of vaudeville will be presented between acts of the play with an orchestral of six pieces to entertain during the few necessary lulls.

A band will play daily. Concerts, on the streets and at the big water-proof tent theatre.

As a special advertising feature ladies will be admitted free on Monday night when accompanied by a 35c ticket.

Although the show is much larger in every respect this season the prices remain at the same low level, 20c for children and 35c for adults.

IMPERIAL RUSSIAN COSSACK CIRCUS WITH MILLER BROS.

Unparalleled in modern history is the feat of Miller Brothers in contracting the entire Imperial Russian Cossack circus, which showed the London Olympia all winter as a sensational and complete show of unprecedented hugeness and novelty, for their 101 Ranch Wild West and Great Far East.

This mighty attraction, assembled in the Balkan and other border countries from scattered Imperial hosts of the late Czar of all the Russias, was acclaimed by the London Daily Graphic as "the finest show of its kind that London has ever had." The London Daily Express said: "One of the most thrilling spectacles ever seen in London opened at the Olympia last night. The riding feats of the cowboys at Wembley were outdone by 260 lean, tough Cossacks." The London Daily Mail remarked: "The Cossack piled thrill upon thrill. They take away your breath; they are almost too much for your eyes. They must be seen to be believed." The London Morning Post stated: "The whole immense production is something entirely new. Nothing like it has ever been seen in London before. The performance is simply prodigious. The feats of horsemanship must be seen to be believed."

That was London's opinion of the Cossack circus as a show in itself—a huge circus in a mighty city. Now, Miller Brothers are adding this same Imperial Russian Cossack circus—horsemen band, choir, acrobats, tumblers, dancers, cavalry units and all—to the huge 101 Ranch Real Wild West and Great Far East.

This is the greatest circus importation in all history.

So, Miller Brothers, 101 Ranch Real Wild West and Great Far East comes to Pontiac, Wednesday, July 28, with a tremendous big show program, with 1,400 people, cowboys and cowgirls, picturesque and exotic; with 600 horses, elephants, camels, buffalo (from the ranch herds), burros, oxen and longhorns; with every famous Indian chief and warrior in America among his contingents of 300 redskins; with the largest spread of canvas in circus history—some fifteen acres in all—and a magnificent opera chair grandstand which, with its supplement tier, seats 14,000 people. And, ignoring the retrenchment policy of the circuses, they bring to town the largest and most picturesque street parade ever seen in the land.
