Communications Theme For Family Y Courses

Better communication and inter-personal relationships are the aim of three programs series getting underway this month in the Livonia Family Y.

Three areas are pinpointed for improvement in understanding—the relationships between parents and children, between husbands and wives and between adults and teens.

Parent effectiveness training classes—using a method developed by Dr. Thomas Gordon and brought to the Livonia Family Y in recent months through the Effectiveness Training Associates of Pasadena, Calif., will begin April 22 and 23.

The three-hour course will run for eight consecutive weeks at 8 p.m. Thursdays and at 9 a.m. Fridays.

Instructors will include Mrs. Rosemary Pulick of Livonia and Don Dinwoodie, community program director at the Family Y.

Parents may register at the Y, 14255 Stark, Livonia.

ALSO on the Family Y program is a husband and wife communication workshop April 16 and 17 and an adult-teen communication workshop April 17.

The workshop for marital partners will be led by Neil Austin, counselor and associate professor in the Oakland Community College counseling center, and Theresa Levitin, social psychologist and an assistant study director in the University of Michigan Institute of Social Research. Mr. and Mrs. Pat McKeon and Mr. and Mrs. David Michaelson form the workshop committee.

The objective of the workshop experience is to work with communication tools that enrich the relationship between husbands and wives, committee members said. Workshop sessions will run from 7:30 to 11 p.m. Friday, April 16, and from 9 a.m. to 10 p.m. Saturday, April 17. Registration is limited and may be arranged by calling the Y.

THE ADULT-TEEN communication workshop will be held in Awareness House, on Stark Road next to the Family Y.

Sandy Skees, Marge Symons, Tim Palmer and Betty Lewis make up the organizing group, and registrations for this workshop too are being accepted at the Family Y.

The sessions Saturday, April 17, will run from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., with participants bringing a sack lunch.

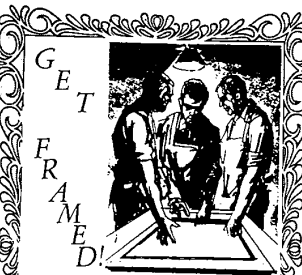

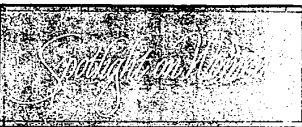

Leadership will be given by four University of Michigan graduate students in the field of social research, and the workshop will use small groups to help improve communication between people of various ages.

Participation is limited to 20 teens and 20 adults.

THE PARENT effectiveness training class, Dinwoodie said, is aimed at helping people in this area in "one of the most difficult jobs in our lives—parent-hood."
