NOBLE SCHOOL NOTES

Upper Room

The Hot Lunch Club is still doing business at the old stand. During the past month Lucille Jacobs and Frank Ken have done the cooking. We predict that when Frank gets married he will be a very handy man around the house.
Our baseball team is slowly rounding into shape. John Norwell, who has been elected captain, will do the pitching. We have several of last year's players on the team, including Crook, Beck, Casson, Ken and Schulkins.
Last Friday we had the first of the Detroit News spelling bees. Our grade champions were as follows: Fifth grade, Arline Oldham; sixth grade, Mary Lockridge; seventh grade, Lucille Jacobs and eighth grade, Vail Huff.
We all enjoyed the social at the William Grace School. We hope Mrs. Drouillard's girls have recovered from that severe attack of rheumatism.

On Monday of this week we had our second reading test. Our fifth grade champion was Arline Oldham; sixth grade, Ralph Spakler; seventh grade, Paul Beck and eighth grade, Charles Schulkins. The seventh grade have started a study of the poem, "The Vision of Sir Launfal."

During the past month we were visited by some of our old friends including Richard Fox, Harold Graham and Clarence Wendland.

Spring vacation begins on April 6 and ends on April 16. This rest will be of especial benefit to the sixth grade because some of its members have been tired since last September.

Orville Richardson is in training for a job as clown with Ringling Bros. circus. During odd time he will work as fat man in a sideshow.

Five pupils in our room received honor pins when Miss Ravell visited us last week. The fortunate students were Fred Crook, Kenneth Graham, Lucille Jacobs, Richard Schulkins and Mary Lockridge. These pins are given as a reward for those who are neither absent or tardy for six months.

Among the pupils in the upper room who reserve mention for excellent work in their grades this year are, Lucille Jacobs, Arline Oldham, William Rocher, Dorothy Smith, John Norwell, Fred Crook and Frank Ken. To gain admission to this honor roll the pupil must not only exhibit unusual ability in school work but he is requested to co-operate properly with his classmates and teacher.

Primary Room
Our helping teacher, Miss Ravell, brought us the Co-operator last time. We wrote her a letter telling which part of the paper the parents, teacher and the children liked best.

We have studied Holand this last month. We have a blackboard border and a sand table to illustrate these people.

The third and fourth grades are very interested in their spelling graphs. We are working hard to keep it up to the top.

The first grade learned the poem "In the Heart of a Seed" and we made seed boxes to plant our seeds in.

We had a silent reading test to determine our grade champion in the fourth grade Dolores Darwin had a score of 20 out of 22. These champions are to compete with other champions in this zone.

We have had two new beginners this last week, John Bedson and Johnny Crook.

We have organized an Audubon Club. We have twelve members listed at present.
