

Farmington School News

trate the rules of health. We are making a study of all the birds.

Miss Beebe.

Sixth Grade

Helen Borchart won the dictionary for the sixth grade in the spelling contest.

We are having a class spelling contest. The winner will receive a book for the prize.

Miss Thornton.

Seventh Grade

Beulah Gillen is the best speller in the class.

Spring has arrived and the boys are playing base ball in their spare time. They have also organized a team to play the neighboring towns.

Mrs. Bartlett.

Freshmen

All of the Freshmen are anxiously waiting for spring vacation to come so they can have a long rest and be up bright and early on Easter morning to see if they can get a peep at the Easter bunny before they scare him away.

Sophomores

The Sophomores have all had a very serious look on their faces ever since Miss MacKellar told them they were going to debate. They all have to admit they are glad it is over with because their knees were surely shaking when their chance came.

Juniors

The Juniors are hurrying lately and always seem to be in a rush. Why? Because they are very busy collecting papers and tying them in Mr. Leonard's barn.

Seniors

The Seniors are very anxious for the day when they will be off for Washington. The time is not quite long enough for the girls as they still have to get more clothes so they can be as pretty as can be when they try to vamp John Coolidge.

Athletics

Farmington girls get the championship in basket ball as the result of Royal Oak tying with Northville last Tuesday night by a score of 35 to 32. Farmington girls have an .875 percentage, figuring by a thousand and Northville has only .815 per cent. Soon the girls will begin track, indoor, baseball and tennis.

Debating

Last Friday Farmington Debating team was defeated by Roseville in a 3 to 0 decision. It was Farmington's second debate in the elimination. Both teams said it was their hardest debate that they had had this year. We all owe Miss Hawkins the vote of thanks for coaching them. Those representing F. H. S. in the debate Friday were Cedric Harger, Lois Young, Robert Kerr. They all did their best and surely did well. The judges said that it was a very hard debate to decide upon. The Sophomores are debating on Capital Punishment, but there are no decisions.

Last Tuesday and Wednesday nights, March 16 and 17, the High School chorus and Glee club staged an operetta at Farmington Town Hall. The operetta was successful and Wednesday night the house was full. Altogether the play was a success. All played their parts very good. If Willie's face froze like it was some times his looks would be ruined for life. We were very much surprised to find out that Eliza Skinner could run. You know we were too modest to think that. Howard M. and Katherine B. showed us that they were as good on the stage as on the basket ball floor. Winnie was such a good "sheik" that Sally will have a hard time keeping him. And say! The way Widow Jaybird fainted! We thought that it was real. Talk about comedy! If Inky and Dinky didn't produce that I don't know who did. And its not everyday that we can go to a show and see as many pretty girls as there were in the chorus. The orchestra played between acts and we recognized a tune once in a while.

Brontosaurus Eggs

Five fossilized eggs of the brontosaurus, a monster rapido, ninety feet long, that weighed forty tons, have been found by a New York mining engineer in a canyon cut 6,000 feet by the Yangtze river in the state of Sonora, Mexico. They were about the size of cantaloupes and were imbedded in veins of mixed lead and silver ores.

Some people seem to get a good deal out of life by not expecting too much.
