THE DEMARCO ITALIAN QUARTETTE

The Demarco Italian Quartette, the last number of our lecture course will be given on Wednesday evening, April 6, when this splendid organization will appear.

The Greenville (Ohio) Advocate, has this to say of them.

"Lovers of real music that failed to go to the concert given by the Demarco Italian Quartette, at the St. Clair Memorial Hall Tuesday night, missed one of the finest treats of many seasons. The crowd that did attend were regaled with some of the finest music, of the best class, that has

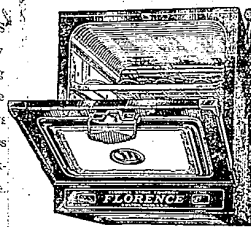

FLORENCE Oil Cook Stoves

1. No trouble to light it—turn a lever and apply a lighted match.
2. Burns kerosene with a clean, hot, blue flame.
3. Smokeless and odorless, wickless and valveless.
4. The 12-inch burner is larger and more powerful than used in any oil stove, yet a gallon of kerosene will keep one at full heat for about 21 hours.
5. Any heat needed, intense, medium, low—easily obtained by turning on a control lever.

FLORENCE OVENS

are approved by Good Housekeeping Institute. They have the famous baker's arch that makes them the finest baking oven obtainable.

been heard here in many moons.

It is generally known that musicians of southern Europe do not play jazz, and there was not a single note of that discordant blare on the program of the Demarcos. Their music was generally from the old masters of harmony, and from the famous grand operas, and the ballads of bygone days, that people love.

"The audience listened in rapture to the instrumental quartette as it rendered 'Forsaken' and 'Somewhere a Voice is Calling' and the excerpts from grand operas. Their playing of Russian music also brought forth much applause."
