Miss Dorothy Miles, a director of the World Wide Guild in Detroit district, came out to Farmington Baptist Church early Sunday evening to help form the senior chapter of W. W. G.

A splendid meeting was held and the following officers chosen by nomination from the floor: President, Mable Turner; vice-president and White Cross director, Nellie McGregory; secretary, Inez Weston.

The office of treasurer was tied between Myra Kilham and Mildred Brown, so it was decided to suspend the election of this officer until the next meeting at which time it is hoped even more members may be present.

TO THE VOTERS OF FARMINGTON

Since the Commission has placed my name in nomination for Justice of the Peace for the City of Farmington (full term), I have decided to make an active bid for election.

I am qualified by education to perform the duties of the office and have ample time to devote to the work.

I believe in the strict enforcement of the law.

Any support of my candidacy that friends or acquaintances may care to put forth will be greatly appreciated.

If elected I shall try to fulfill their expectations and confidence.
