

A SAVINGS ACCOUNT IS A "SHOCK ABSORBER" FOR LIFE'S BUMPS!

The poet wrote truthfully, indeed, when he penned the line, "Into each life some rain must fall."

Trouble, financial reverses and set-backs, unexpected and unavoidable expenses—all are certain to occur sooner or later to everyone.

To coast along without a saved-up surplus is the height of shortsightedness. A savings account is a "shock absorber" for life's bumps. Are you so equipped?
