FITZPATRICK TELLS EXCHANGEITES OF THE HISTORY OF BANKING
 John Fitzpatrick, cashier of the People's State Bank of Farmington, was in charge of the program of the local Exchange Club at the noon meeting Wednesday. Mr. Fitzpatrick engaged the interest of the members with a treatise on the history of banking.

"Modern banking began in Venice in 1587," Mr. Fitzpatrick told the Exchangeites. "When a bank took deposits and issued receipts, which were used as money."

Mr. Fitzpatrick traced the story of banking from that day through the colonial and later periods of American history. Many of his hearers were surprised to learn of the precarious history of banking in the United States before the Civil War.

Mr. Fitzpatrick's talk was heartily applauded and the speaker complimented upon the selection and treatment of his subject.

LENORE IRVING MARRIED TO ANN ARBOR MAN

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis will make their home in Ann Arbor, where Mr. Hollis is well known in business circles.

"CRITIC" OFFERS SUGGESTIONS TO LOCAL WRITERS
 Publication Of Poems And Essays By The Enterprise Creates Interest

The Farmington Enterprise is in receipt of an anonymous letter to the editor in which the writer discusses the literary work of local writers appearing periodically in our columns. The writer commends the poems of Miss M. Marie Walling and the essay of Judge John J. Schulte, which appeared several weeks ago as the first of a series of discourses. The letter is signed with a pseudonym, "The Critic."

The Enterprise columns are always open to our readers, and we welcome communications of all kinds, but it is the policy of this newspaper not to print unsigned communications. Our readers may sign assumed names, but the real name must also be given, not necessarily for publication, but that the Enterprise may know the source of all material appearing in its columns.

If "The Critic" will furnish the Enterprise with his name, his letter will be printed with merely the signature of "The Critic." We take this opportunity to encourage other readers to use the columns of the Enterprise to express themselves upon whatever subject interests them at any time.
