WHAT OF THE GRADUATES?

The month of June witnesses each year a great outpouring of students from grammar schools, high schools and colleges. The graduates hold the interest of a large part of the population of every community.

"What does life and the world hold in store for these graduates?" is perhaps the most frequently-expounded topic of Commencement addresses. Commencement speakers, addressing both graduates and their elders, endeavor to draw for the former a picture of the world which will conform to the general experience of the older members of the audience.

But more important than what the world offers to the graduates is the question, "What will the graduates offer to the world?" What will they do to make life happier, more rational, more intelligent than it has been before? The award of a diploma does not necessarily mean that its recipient is among a group better fitted to lead mankind to higher achievements. Many with slight preparatory education in schools have been among man's greatest benefactors. The world gave them little at the start—before they passed on they left the world monumental gifts.

The graduates of grammar schools, high schools and colleges have already received great gifts at the hands of their parents and the citizenry in general. In almost every case they will be able, by virtue of their education, to win a better living, greater enjoyment in living, than their less fortunate fellows.

Will they also return more to the world? Will the world have gained as much by providing education as have those it has benefited through education? The answer is as much a test of modern education as it is of the youth who go forth from its halls.

USE COMMON SENSE

This is the season of happy week-end holidays, of enjoyable motor trips through the countryside and to the bathing beaches. Early each Saturday begins the exodus from cities and towns out into the country, along smooth-paved roads that by afternoon are crowded with motor cars. All are intent on the week-end holiday.

Few greater blessings have been bestowed upon the great masses of people than the inexpensive motor car and the week-end trip. Yet this holiday has its "morning-after."

One picks up his newspaper each Monday morning in summer to wonder what the toll of motor accidents and drownings has been for the week-end. Many dislike to read the Monday newspapers because of the havoc they record in summer.

With highways crowded to the utmost, accidents are inevitable. And with thousands going to the beaches many are certain to venture too far or attempt too much.

Yet the details of automobile accidents and drownings, in the majority of cases, impress one with the feeling that ordinary care, plain good judgment, would avoid most of the tragedies.

When you go riding, remember that the road was built for thousands. Before you act, consider every other rider as if he were your neighbor, and treat him just as courteously.

When you go into the water take common sense with you. Know the simple precautions that make bathing safe for every sensible person. Common sense often means much more than experience in the water.

It's one thing to know your cost, and another thing to get it.

A sense of humor is the real fountain of youth.

It's about as hard to hire as it is to fire.

Brains count if you're willing to work.

"OUR CITY"

It isn't the size of a city that counts. It's the people who go there to live. And the ones who are willing to offer—The best that they have to give.

A city is made up of good folks. Hundreds of them it seems; And then there are mingled together, Poor folks and those who have means.

Though our city's not one of the largest, If you look around you will see, The people who do most for others. Are neighbors to you and to me.

This is Jantzen
"Learn-to-Swim Week"
 June 25 to July 2

JANTZENS are styled for swimming
 as well as beach parade

THERE'S an outstanding dash and grace to the Jantzen-clad swimmer. Women express it as "stunning" "smart" "chic" . . . Men say, "Now, that's my idea of a wonderful swimming suit." Many are the reasons why Jantzen is such a sensation. First of all, it fits—as all your life you've wished a swimming suit might fit—without wrinkling.

Before the admiring eyes of millions, Jantzen wearers are seen on every beach in North and South America. And at Europe's fashionable seaside such as Nice, Deauville, Henley, Brighton Beach.

And this same perfection of fit is the secret of swimming-ease in a Jantzen. It graces your body snugly, smoothly, easily.

Your Jantzen cannot bind or hinder you. Being entirely of long wool fibres and closely knitted by the Jantzen-stitch process, it is unusually elastic. Hence, you always look and feel right in a Jantzen.

We have all the popular colors and styles in every size. Light and dark tones. Bright colors. Stripes. No extra charge for suits with the little red diving girl emblem—a smart extra touch! Jantzens are color-fast. They're dyed in the wool! A perfect fit is yours at the outset, as we use the Jantzen system of size-by-weight.
