WHAT CROSS-ROAD PAVING MEANS

Road work is being rushed on three important thoroughfares in this section. Road men are bending every effort to complete the programs laid out before cold weather stops them for this year.

On the Ten-Mile and Twelve-Mile roads, the pavement is being laid at a rapid rate. This fall or early next spring, both of these highways will be paved through to Grand River, one meeting the road at Farmington, the other west of Novi.

Meanwhile, state road men are progressing at surprising speed with the work of extending the double highway along Grand River, from Five Points, at Seven-Mile road, to the car line crossing a short distance west. Indications are that their winter will be completed well before work sets in.

Many have been of the opinion that the paving of the Ten and Twelve-Mile roads with 20 feet of concrete will operate to relieve congestion along Grand River. Fortunately or unfortunately, investigation has shown that the improvement, widening and paving of secondary highways, instead of relieving congestion on main thoroughfares, intensifies the traffic problem.

The cross-highways, rather than drawing from the busier roads acts as "feeders" for the latter. Motorists use the secondary roads to reach the main highways, instead of to avoid them. Every improvement of a cross-road adds to the volume of traffic on the nearest main road.

This will be particularly true of Grand River, which by far the shortest route from this section to the main portion of Detroit. The saving of distance by travelling on Grand River is so great that motorists use it more and more, in spite of its increasing congestion and danger.

The extending of the double pavement half a mile, far from aiding the traffic situation, will in reality, make it many times worse. The bottle-neck will be shorter, and congestion there will increase in proportion.

STILL TIME TO CHANGE PLANS

Of the many boys and girls who stepped from their classrooms on the last day of June, some in grades below the high school senior class may have decided not to return to school this year. Conditions apparently beyond their control, or perhaps the mere dislike of school, have undoubtedly brought about many such decisions.

School starts next Tuesday in most localities, and there still is time to re-consider such an important question. The greatest difficulty lies to make youth see just how important to themselves such a decision will inevitably be.

For while there may be serious doubts as to whether a college education, especially as it is interpreted in our large state universities, really "pays," there can be no such question regarding high school training. Few men can overcome the handicap placed upon them in life when they fare forth without at least high school education. The mere possession, or lack of possession, of a high school diploma, determines in an astonishingly large and varied number of cases whether or not the applicant "gets the job." Only the exceptional person can succeed today without high school training.

Demonstrates' search for an honest man would be a simple task today beside that of finding a man who regrets that he continued his schooling through high school. But there are thousands upon thousands who look back sadly upon just such a decision as many an unwise youth may have made, this summer.

YOUR SORROWS

M. Marie Walling

When you're thinking of your sorrows
And you're worried, tired and blue,
Do you ever think of others
If they're sad and lonely too?

Someone else may be more lonely,
Someone else may not be gay
They may have their sorrows plenty
Worried by the cares of day.

You are not the only one
Who has troubles by the score
There is someone who is worried
There are some who sorrow more.

Be as cheerful as you can
Smile your troubles all away
Clouds are covering all the sunshine
Tomorrow brings a brighter day.

Home Maker's Column

If sliced ham is very salty, soak it in buttermilk or sour milk before cooking.

Whether you are building a new home, remodeling an old one, or merely re-arranging your kitchen equipment you will find Farmers' Bulletin 1513-F, "Convenient Kitchens," helpful.

Cottage cheese is high in food value. It contains all the constituents of milk except the cream. Like milk, cottage cheese is a source of protein, which is used to build and repair body tissues.

After carefully washing it cook rice in a large quantity of actively boiling salted water until it is done through but not soft. Drain in a colander and set over hot water, covered with a cloth, so each grain will swell and remain separate.

You can have shortcakes whatever the season. When fresh peaches are over, bananas are always available, and the dried fruits, such as apricots, prunes, figs, and dates, are excellent when made into a thick sauce and served on biscuit dough with whipped cream.

Celeriac, or knob celery, is available in summer time and is very acceptable when stalk celery is hard to get. It is pared and sliced, like turnips or carrots, cooked in a small quantity of water and seasoned with butter or cream. It also makes an excellent addition to potato salad.

Caramel flavor is easy to make and may be kept on hand. Put half a cup of granulated sugar over the fire and allow it to melt and become brown without scorching. Add half a cup of hot water and cook about five minutes. Use according to taste in flavoring puddings, cake icing and ice cream.

There are many number of suitable garnishes and flavorings for iced tea. Slices of lemon, orange, or lime are good. A spray of mint is attractive. Candied orange or lemon peel and candied pineapple may be used. Some people like whole cloves, a stick of cinnamon, crystallized ginger, & rose geranium leaves with iced tea.

Oranges are a rich source of vitamins and minerals. Children need a constant and abundant supply of these things in their food to help them grow and develop normally. Oranges also have the advantage that they can be given between meals without spoiling the appetite of other foods at the regular meal times.
