All gas appliances recommended by us must have the stamp of approval of the American Gas Association. This approval is granted only after a series of very severe tests—these tests dealing not only with the performance of the appliance, (that is, its safety construction, materials used—its durability.

Then finally we say to you that any appliance which you buy of us has our own unqualified guarantee covering these features which we claim.

It is our utmost desire to render our customers the best possible service at all times.
