For the automobile buff — everything but the Ferrari itself. From left, the bronze bust of automobile legend Enzo Ferrari (titled "Enzo") is a museum edition by artist Larry Braun ($680). "Enzo Ferrari — The Man, The Car, The Races" by Brock Yates ($22), the Ferrari insignia of the prancing horse ($1,650) in stainless steel (bronze or sterling available) and the handsome hardcover photo essay, "Supercars Ferrari Testarossa," by Mark Hughes ($5.98). At Gallery Automania, Rochester.

Let the little ones wake up to tunes and sounds for kids only. From Sony (left) comes My First Sony ($50), a colorful clock radio with four wake-up sounds: dog, train, bird or melody. Alarm and time are easily set. Uses four AA batteries. From Playschool comes the Rise and Shine digital clock radio with three built-in wake-up melodies, a night light and tamper-proof controls ($40). At Marmel Gifts and Toys, Farmington Hills.
