Even the two commissioners from south Oakland County with the worst record for board meetings only record for beard meetings only missed three each. Ironically both those commission-ers, John E. Oisen, R-Huntington Woods, and Roy Rewold, R-Oakland Township, also had among the best attendance records for committee other public officials, according to commissioners contacted last week when records for 1991 were closed. As Commissioner David L. Moffitt, R. Farmington Hills, explained, "You can't represent your constituents if you're not there."

Other commissioners take a more relaxed view. "It's one way of evaluating a public official," said Commissioner Nancy McConnell, "but it's not the only one. Attendance measures whether or not somebody is there. It doesn't measure what they contribute."
McConnell, a Republican from Township, also had among the best attendance records for committee meetings are not applegate for missing three board meetings. Nor did he boast about missing only woo f2s scheduled committee meetings. "That's just the way it worked out," he said, "I keep track of things, and if a meeting is crucial, I'm always there. But sometimes you can't help missing, it ry to work my yacation schedule around board meetings. But sometimes that simply doesn't work."

Rewidd is chairman of the board of committees. In his leadership role, however, he frequently attended committee meetings and may take part in discussions.

Commissioner Thomas A. Law, Rewell Biomfield, said be considers attendance to be important, especially when important issues — like the county's solid waste program—are being discussed or deedded.

"But the mark of a good commissioner is what he or she contributes at those meetings," said Law, who missed a higher percentage of meetings than any other south Oakland commissioner, according to official records.

Law missed (wo of 21 board meetings). it's not the only one. Attendance measures whether or not somebody is there. It doesn't measure what they contribute."

McConnell, a Republican relationable attendance record for 1991 as vice chairms of the board. See missed one board meeting and four out of 27 committee seasions.

The job of Oakland County Commissioner is part-time with an annual salary of 20,984. The entire board met 21 times in 1991, while meetings for standing or special committees varied as meeting and attendance is something of a trademark of the Oakland County Board of Commissioners — and a bipartisan one at that.
