100 days, 100 years

Each year, the school of St. Paul's Lutheran Church celebrates the 100th day of the academic year. Kindergarten students counted out 100 stops, 100 beans and 100 cotton swabs. This year, the 100th day carried a special meaning for students and teachers. The school and St. Paul's church commemorate their 100th anniversary. Students in Irene Suttor's kindergarten class on Thursday, Feb. 6 had their once-in-a-century chance to enjoy cakes made to resemble the number 100.

Support group alleviates pain

Providence Hospital offers a pain control center for those who suffer from chronic pain. The weekly support group teaches coping skills and behavioral techniques for managing pain. For details about the services available call the pain control center at 424-3186. The center is adjacent to Providence Hospital, 22301 Foster Winter Drive, Suite 200, Southfield.

Edison sponsors poster contest

Kindergarten through sixth grade and special education students can illustrate ways to protect the earth's environment by entering Detroit Edison's 1992 environmental poster contest by Feb. 28.

Posters must address one or more of these environmental issues: recycling, planting the proper tree in the right location away from power lines, and conserving the world's natural resources.

Each entry must be marked with the child's name, address, school, school address, teacher's name, school phone number and grade level. All entries will be acknowledged with a small gift and will become the property of Detroit Edison.

Prizes will be awarded in five categories: kindergarten; first and second grades; third and fourth grades; fifth and sixth grades and special education. Semi-finalists will receive a savings bond and overall winners will choose prizes from selected items.

In addition, Detroit Edison will plant a tree at the overall winners' schools and present tree seedlings to each student in any school that has 100 percent participation in the contest.

For a copy of contest rules or details call Detroit Edison at 237-7187.

St. Paul's sets anniversary service, dinner

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Farmington Hills observes its second centennial celebration with a special worship service at 11 a.m., Sunday, Feb. 23.

Pastor Wayne Berkesech of St. Michael's Lutheran Church of Fort Wayne, Ind. is the guest preacher. He attended grades four through six in St. Paul's day school and was the school principal and church organist from 1977-84. He entered the ministry and now serves as pastor in Indiana.

The Rev. Walter Rutkowski is the dinner speaker. As pastor of St. Paul's from 1948-76, he oversaw the building of the present church, day school and parsonage. He now lives in Frankfort, Mo.

The public is invited to the worship service. For dinner reservations and further information, call the church office, 464-0685.
