

Teacher from B'ld township is guilty of resisting arrest

Andover High School teacher James Huff faces up to two years and three months in jail after being convicted of resisting arrest and disturbing the peace in a 1991 altercation with police at a McDonald's restaurant in Bloomfield Township.

Huff, who lives in Bloomfield Township, was convicted Monday in the courtroom of Oakland County Circuit Judge Steven Andrews following a two-day trial and two days of jury deliberation.

Huff, 44, was acquitted on a charge of obstructing arrest.

The incident occurred at the McDonald's, 2209 Telegraph, on Feb. 13, 1991. Police said they were called to investigate a report that Huff's son, who was 19 years old at the time, was trying to sell marijuana to an employee.

When James Huff was originally charged before 48th District Court Judge Thomas Brookover, Bloomfield Township police testified that Huff arrived as his son was being arrested, and acted belligerently.

Officer Scott Hess testified James Huff pushed him into a window and "resisted strongly" when officers tried to take him into custody. The struggle ended up outside the restaurant, Hess said.

During that hearing, Huff's defense attorney said Huff did not have an opportunity to resist the arrest of his son and had a right to use "reasonable force to resist arrest."

Huff's son was never charged of any wrongdoing. James Huff has taught social studies for about 20 years.

WILL OUR GENERATION FACE THE GREAT TRIBULATION?
While on earth, Jesus warned of a terrible time of trouble called the Great Tribulation. This horrible calamity would include the coming of the Abomination of Desolation. He warned Christians how to escape these coming dangers.
Five hundred years earlier, Daniel had also warned God's saints of the coming ordeal. He prophesied of Seventy Weeks leading up to the same events Christ spoke of. These two predictions are important for all Christians.
Many assume Jesus will come before these events so we need not worry about them. If this is true, why did Jesus warn His followers of the personal dangers to them? This is an assumption that wise men should prove out.
Others are convinced that recent events are pointing to an imminent catastrophic upheaval just before Jesus returns. Many view each change in the world's political structure as ominous signs of this coming cataclysm.
Does Scripture support the current beliefs about these prophecies? Or have most Christians totally missed their urgent and fulfillment? Take two hours to hear the rare truth about these predictions.
Original material will be presented with visual aids. This seminar is free and without obligation.
