TARTE AU CITRON ET AUX AMANDES
(LEMON TART WITH ALMONDS)

- 2 cups flour, sifted
 - 1 cup ground almonds
 - 1/2 cup sugar
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1-2 teaspoons finely grated lemon rind
 - 1/2 cup unsalted butter, cubed
 - 1 egg yolk
 - 3-4 tablespoons ice cold water
- Filling: 4 eggs
 1/2 cup sugar
 2 tablespoons finely grated lemon rind (2 lemons), retain the juice
 1 cup unsalted butter, melted and cooled

- 1 cup coarsely ground unpeeled toasted almonds
- Garnish: 2 tablespoons confectioners' sugar
- 2-3 cups raspberry purée
- Frozen: 2-10 oz. packages frozen raspberries
- Juice of 2 large lemons
- sugar to taste

To make the pastry:
 Thaw the berries, preserving the juice that melts off. Put the berries in a blender, add lemon juice and whip until blended. Add sugar to taste. Strain if desired. Refrigerate until serving.
To prepare the tart:
 Combine the flour, almonds, sugar, salt and lemon rind in a large bowl. Lightly rub the butter into the flour using your fingertips, until the mixture resembles coarse cornmeal. Mix the egg yolk with 3 tablespoons of the ice water and stir into the crumbled mixture. The dough should form a soft ball. Add the remaining tablespoon of water if all the ingredients are not well combined. Wrap the dough in plastic wrap and refrigerate for at least 2 hours or overnight.

Preheat oven to 325 degrees.
 Roll the dough out to form a circle large enough for a 12 inch tart pan with a removable bottom. Line the buttered tart ring with the dough and refrigerate for 30 minutes. (Note: It's essential to butter the tart ring well.)
 Prick the dough with the tines of a fork. Line the dough with waxed or parchment paper, then metal baking pebbles or dried beans and bake for 5 minutes.

Set aside to cool, remove paper and beans.
To prepare the filling: Preheat the oven to 350 degrees. Beat the eggs, sugar and lemon rind together until pale in color and very fluffy. Slowly beat in the lemon juice and then the melted butter.

Gently fold in the almonds with a spatula and transfer the filling to tart pan. Set tart on a baking sheet and bake for 30 minutes or until filling is firm. Set aside to cool.
 When ready to serve, sprinkle cooled tart with confectioners' sugar and cut into wedges. Spread a little raspberry purée on the bottom of each plate.
 Place slice on top and pour a little purée around each slice. Serves 10.

Gadgets complete a kitchen

Most of us who love to cook find ourselves drawn into kitchenware shops like honey bees to a flower. A visit into the kitchen cupboards of an experienced cook will often reveal a collection of culinary trends which could be described as complete.

The list begins with traffic shavers and ends with a crisscut cutter. But there are a number of gadgets which any experienced, enthusiastic cook will tell you, "they can't live without." Most of them have been around for decades and some are relatively new.

Instant meat thermometer for baking, grilling and roasting. Candy thermometer for measuring liquid temperatures for bread making, sauces and cooking custards. Oven thermometer, crucial because ovens are often out of calibration.
 Zester to remove zest from lemons, oranges and grapefruits. Cuisinart or Krups Mini Prep Processor - takes up little space, great for quickly chopping, onion.
 KitchenAid Ultra Power 7-speed hand mixer, the lowest setting is very slow, perfect for heavy batters. Immersion-hand blender, great for pureeing soups right in the pot.
