Think mink — Michigan's full of them

NATURE TRAILS

If we started to play a game of association, and I mentioned "mink," your first thought would probably be "scout." Because many people have never seen a mink before, they might associate them with wild remote areas of wilderness.

Actually mink are found throughout Michigan in both upper and lower peninsulas.

In fact, I had the opportunity to see one at Heritage Park in Farmington Hills recently. Though typically a nocturnal animal, this individual was active in mid-afternoon on a bright sunny day. It was hopping along the bank of a branch of the Rouge River that runs through the park.

Wetland areas are favored habitats of the mink. Since wetlands are difficult to traverse, not many people are in the proper place to see a mink, especially if they are active at night. In wetlands, whether it is a lakeshore, river, swamp or marsh, mink are able to find adequate food and shelter.

Root tangles along river banks provide good shelter for temporary dens or dens for raising young. Mink may settle in an area for a couple days and then leave to search for food. A menu for a mink includes many choices. They will catch mice, moles, rabbit, squirrel, frogs, crayfish, eggs, bird eggs, snakes, fish and an occasional insect. Muskrats are one of its most favored foods.

Mink are members of the weasel family and are long and narrow like the typical weasel one thinks of. But they are larger than the short-tailed, long-tailed and least weasel.

They do not change to white in winter as do the three species just mentioned. Their size does allow them to prey on animals as large as adult muskrats. Muskrat cannot escape into the water to avoid the pursuit of a mink, because the semi-webbed feet of mink allow it to swim proficiently. Mink often capture fish under water by swimming after them.

A mink's rich brown color may vary to black and to one of 12 other color variations recognized. The brown of a typical wild animal provides a sharp contrast to the white under the chin that is characteristic of mink. Fortunately I did not experience its musky odor, which according to some, puts a skunk's odor to shame. It is fortunate that there are some seldom seen animals still around where habitats are adequate for their survival.

Grants boost OU eye research projects

Oakland University faculty researchers benefited from $588,445 in federal and private research grants during March, according to trustee reports.

The grants, which formed a substantial portion of the $835,653 in related gifts and grants reported for March, went primarily to research into eye disorders. The National Eye Institute gave $203,270 to Dr. Raymond Margerio, clinical professor of biomedical sciences, as

RIGHT NOW, OUR RISING RATE CD AND FIRSTRATE FUND WILL BE MOVING EVEN FASTER.

While there's sure to be a lot of excitement at First of America Free Prix Day, Friday, June 5, at the ITT Automotive Detroit Grand Prix, we're expecting even more in local First of America and Security Bancorp branches.

That's because of the FirstRate Fund and Rising Rate CD. Both are two shrewd ways to invest, no matter what your economic outlooks...

Now if you think interest rates are going to drop or remain flat, get a Rising Rate CD with rates guaranteed to rise every six months over the next two years. With a minimum deposit of $1,000, your money will start at a bonus rate of 5 percent per annum and end up earning an attractive 6½ percent for the final term.

On the other hand if you think the economy is going to make a speedier recovery, the FirstRate Fund is the right place to put your money. It gives you a great interest rate coupled with liquidity. You'll need to maintain a new minimum deposit of $10,000 to earn a bonus rate of 5½ percent per annum on your money through July 31. After that, the rate is based on the 91-Day Treasury Bill, so if rates go up quickly you'll benefit.

Call or stop in to learn more.

And then plan to join us on Belle Isle for First of America Free-Prix Day as we invite the entire Detroit community out for a peek at the prix. You'll find plenty to get revved up about at First of America and Security Bancorp Banks this spring.
