chocolate shelled ice cream smothered with raspberry sauce—that no one could refuse.

Organizing the Project HOPE afternoon with Rita Margherio were Queenie Sarkisian, Janet Forgone and Kay Alberte of Orchard Lake, and Annette Ballan, Gloria Clark, Bonnie Lockwood, Joyce Ludwig, Barbara Nolan, Helen Peterson, Roxie Weston, Joyce Ward and Kim Williams.

Riviera Rundown

What ever happened to Craig Hull, who at the age of 21 was Michigan's youngest real estate tycoon and proprietor of such complexes as the Leontine Apartments, and Hamilton Place Health Club in Southfield? Or how about Sonny Van Arnen, the dashing owner of Michigan's first soccer team, the Detroit Express?

Hull and Van Arnen were spotted recently among other young presidents at an educational conference on the French Riviera, where they were attending classes at the Le Palais Des Festivals in Cannes.

Hull now lives in Dallas, Texas, and is dating Kathy Cain, a stunning blonde Dallas attorney who recently ran in a tight race for mayor of Dallas. Van Arnen lives in Florida and is married to Bridget, a beauty of the sort that graces Ralph Lauren ads. Still involved in computers, Van Arnen talked about the amazing technology now available and yet to come in the computer world.

F&M royals Randy and Judith Apley, who recently showcased the grand opening of their elaborate Talon Industries headquarters in Detroit, also attended the French convention. Their 126-foot yacht, the Talon, welcomed young presidents from around the world on three consecutive sunrise cruises at 6:30 a.m. along the Cote d'Azur.

Michigan entertainer Renée Kaufmann serenaded guests with Top 10 Broadway and '60s tunes. Former Bloomfield sisters Cathy and Debby Gargano also were spotted in Cannes. Cathy is married to Bissell big shot Mark Bissell of Grand Rapids and Debby is a Southern belle since her marriage to Mark Piering, president of Albany Beverage in Albany, Ga.

Bloomfield Hills residents Stephen and Nancy Grund of DeCo Grand Inc., Royal Oak, were seen having breakfast with "Good Morning America" chief chef Julia Child, who was one of the conference's many faculty members.

Sharing the Blues

It's in their genes. Lois Levenson and her three daughters, Sheri, Julie and Jodi, owners of West Bloomfield's trendy cache Guys 'N' Gals, to help those less fortunate. Their annual jean-exchange to benefit the Baldwin Center and the New Bethel Baptist Church shelters in Pontiac helps battered and abused women and children find refuge and safety.

"We can't believe the response we get to this jean drive," commented Julie Levenson Feldman, who has her degree and heart in social work. "This is wonderful. People brought in not only used jeans but clothing with tags still on them," she said.

Spotted carrying in their recycled blues were Heidi Turbow, Audrey Richman, Lisa Chabien, Melissa Moss, Lindsay and Julie Auckerman and Danielle Grumet, all of Farmington Hills; Zachary and Jamie Krauman, Lindsay Spola, Annie Schlesinger, Kelly Moscow, all of West Bloomfield, and Carrie and Dayna Apse, Karen Coden and Elana and Marilyn Averback, all Southfield residents.

Verlie Blackshore, director of New Bethel, and Allee Harrison and Karen Truena of Baldwin Center, worked with the Levensons from 10 a.m. to 9 p.m. at the Orchard Mall store, collecting hundreds of denims for the distressed.

Circle of Fellows

The Michigan Cancer Foundation Circle of Fellows will have a Saturday night dinner-dance at the majestic Grosse Pointe home of Ted and Maria Gutierrez at 7 p.m. Saturday. Call Liz Mitchell at 433-1029 for further details.

Eyes on the Classics

The annual "Eyes on the Classics" auto show will be held Sunday on the grounds of the Edsel and Eleanor Ford House in Grosse Pointe Shores. More than 200 antique, sports and specialty vehicles will be displayed to benefit the Detroit Institute of Ophthalmology. Admission is $10. For additional information call 824-5554.
