

Colorful wagonful

Jim Hubbard/STAFF PHOTOGRAPHER

May flowers: Carol Saletta of Rochester and her daughters, Elizabeth, 8, and Megan, 4, leave the Bloomin' Rochester art fair with a wagon full of red impatiens. A steady drizzle the day of the recent invitational show didn't stop visitors from enjoying the flowers, art work and other items on display and sale.

Art Institute honors long time volunteer

Bloomfield Hills resident Muriel Jacknow was selected April Volunteer of the Month at the Detroit Institute of Arts.

She has been an active doer for nearly 27 years. Thirty years ago, she was a volunteer helping museum staff take inventory. She chaired an auction fund-raiser at the DIA.

Jacknow and her late husband, David, were very active in the Graphic Arts Auxiliary. They were active volunteers and fund-raisers. Recipients of their efforts include Technion University in Israel, the Salvation Army and the DIA.

Jacknow has three children and three grandchildren.

For details about volunteering, call the DIA auxiliary services at 833-0247. The museum is open 11 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday-Sunday.

Paint Creek schedules art classes for all ages

The Paint Creek Center for the Arts offers more than 50 summer classes and workshops for art lovers from preschoolers to seniors. Register now for the five-week session, July 8 to Aug. 8.

Registration may be made in person at the center, 407 Pine, two blocks west of Main in downtown Rochester, or by phone. For more information, call the PCCA at 651-4110, 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. Tuesday-Saturday.

Classes for youngsters include a variety of choices in clay, drawing, painting, papermaking, sculpture and storytelling. Young adults, age 10 and older, have their choice of classes in clay, drawing, portraiture and sculpture.

Adults, as well as interested high school students, can pick from a list of 21 classes and nine workshops conveniently scheduled mornings, afternoons and evenings. Class offerings include art appreciation, clay, drawing, painting, papermaking, photography, printmaking and sculpture.

Classes open in music, dance, visual arts

Registration for the non-degree programs at the Center for Creative Studies is now open.

Many different programs in dance, music and visual arts are available to beginners through professionals.

Visual arts classes begin June 15. For information, call the Extension Office at 872-3118. Music classes begin June 29, dance classes July 6. For music and dance information, call the Admissions Office at 831-2870.

Summer dance studies for youths and adults include ballet, modern, Dunham, tap, East Indian and First Studio, a beginning dance class designed for preschoolers.

Private and group music lessons in classical and jazz are available in all instruments and voice. A folk group performance class is offered for ages 16 and above. A multi-discipline workshop for ages 4-13 includes music, movement and visual arts experiences. Jazz ensemble, beginning group piano, class voice and theory studies are also available.

Summer visual arts studies include a five-week pre-college program for students considering applying to a professional visual arts college; courses for students in grades 3-12 include drawing and painting, photography, ceramics, and sculpture; and courses for adults and advanced high school
