

Quilter keeps track of races

Sue McDowell, Bloomfield Township quilter, decided to preserve her son and daughter's running competition history in quilts of her own design.

Through the years the two have competed in runs and acquired the obligatory T-shirt. Now that the son, 23, is working in Chicago and the daughter, 20, is in college, McDowell decided to make quilts out of their old shirts.

Each shirt is fused to a 12-inch square of interfacing. The squares are machine-stitched together and joined to a batting and backing. Designs from each shirt are then hand quilted by McDowell.

"I'm a sewer who got into quilting as an expression of my creativity. And you're still using your sewing skills," McDowell said.

Keeping track: Sue McDowell of Bloomfield Township preserved the history of her son and daughter's running competition in a special way: by making a quilt out of the runners' T-shirts.

Roeper art fest planned

Roeper City and Country School's Booster Club will present the Roeper Invitational Art Fest, an outdoor festival of the arts, "Saturday-Sunday, Aug. 22-23."

The festival will take place 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. at Roeper's Bloomfield Hills campus, on Woodward just north of Long Lake Road.

All proceeds will go to the Roeper Athletic Department. For more information, call Roeper City and Country School at 642-1500.

This is a juried show and sale of original fine art and crafts. Eighty-six artists from Michigan and 16 other states will be displaying their work.

Many forms of two-dimensional and three-dimensional art will be presented, including jewelry, sculpting, painting, weaving, photography, basketry and leather. Demonstrations by various artists will take place throughout each day.

The Collecting Consort, Anne Wakenhut on the cello and Gary Wakenhut on the hammered dulcimer, will perform at the Art Fest. Borrowing from their predecessors, the minstrels of Europe, they combine qualities of the Middle Ages, the Renaissance and new age music. The two also play a wide variety of wind and percussion instruments.

The event is open to the public. Admission is free. Food and refreshments will be available.

WSU sets piano sale, preview

Wayne State University will have its first-ever piano liquidation sale from 5 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 30, in the Schaefer Music Building at Cass and Kirby.

Parking is available. Preview showings may be arranged by appointment only. For more information or to make an appointment, call the music department at 577-1795.

Most of the more than 50 pianos are year-old, institutional-grade instruments on loan from the Kawai Piano Co. to the university for student use under a program developed by David Magidson, dean of the College of Fine, Performing and Communication Arts, chairman Dennis Tini and Professor Peter Schoenbach of the music department.

Kawai sells the instruments to the general public after 12 months of use at prices substantially less than retail.

The instruments, in a variety of colors and finishes, range from up-rights and studio pianos to baby grands and smaller grand, on up to a $35,000, 7 foot 5 semi-concert grand.

Kawai pianos are produced in the United States and Japan. A few brand names in addition to the 47 Kawai pianos are offered. Financing and delivery are available.

"Kawai gets a strong endorsement from Wayne State," said Kawai representative Doug Ball, director of the sale. "Quality is important to faculty members, and they are very particular. Kawai pianos are hand-selected and specially serviced for the university."

"Knowing where a piano has been is important in selecting a used instrument. The first year of a piano's life will determine what the instrument will sound like for the next 50 years. These pianos are located in concert halls, offices and practice rooms."

Arnold Williams Music, the exclusive Midwest distributor for institutionally upgraded Kawai pianos, and the agent for the WSU sale, has a reputation for credibility and customer satisfaction.

"John Williams always has been known as trustworthy and fair, especially regarding customer relations," said John Rajcic, Kawai vice president. "We are pleased to have him as our representative because we know that Wayne State customers will be treated right."

In another venture, WSU and Kawai formed a partnership with the Michigan Opera Theatre to conduct its auditions in the Community Arts Auditorium in November.

Artists, collectors doll up for Aug. 23 fair

The Great Lakes Doll Artists is having the second annual Great Lakes Doll Fair 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday, Aug. 23, at the Plaza Hotel, formerly the Southfield Sheraton, on J.L. Hudson Drive in Southfield.

Admission is $2.50 at the door. For more information, call Dottie Lou Jones at 777-6142 or Pat Alzady at 749-3137.

This year's show will feature prominent doll artists Karen Cadieux of Cadieux Originals, Jon Nahrang of Nahrang Collection, Nita Faulkner of Faulkner's Originals, Maria Ahren of Ahren's Historical Figures from Sweden, Jim and Sue Parker of Parker People from Ann Arbor and Jane Covington of Cloud Nine Dolls from Marquette.

The Great Lakes Doll Artists will host a private preview showing of the artists' work and a dinner Saturday, Aug. 22. Tickets are $35 each and include a drawing for a prize, as well as free admission to the show. Neil Heiden from Penelope's Doll Chest in Toledo will be the guest speaker. Call Dottie Lou Jones to make arrangements for attending the dinner.

"We are pleased to inform our customers that the Plaza has arranged a special rate for our guests wishing to make a weekend event of our doll fair," organizers said.

"Many of our dealers and customers have already registered to take advantage of this opportunity. A full evening spent with our guest artists as well as free admission to the show... is a doll lover's dream come true. We look forward to an exciting weekend."

Series of area museum, gallery tours scheduled

Artist and lecturer Deanna Sperka will conduct "Art Alive," a series of museum and gallery tours this fall.

The tours will include galleries, alternative space exhibits, artists' studios and museums in the metropolitan area, including Ann Arbor and Flint.

The series is offered 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Thursdays for 10 weeks beginning Sept. 10. For more information, or to register, call Sperka at 968-5112.

Sperka, who has exhibited her multimedia installations and photography in the United States, Canada and Mexico, has just completed a one-person show in Tel Aviv and a three-month residency at the Jerusalem Center for the Visual Arts on Mount Zion in Jerusalem.

In her gallery tours she presents contemporary art from the artist's viewpoint against the background of art history.
