

Shooting the rapids

Arts group seeks photo entries

Waterford Friends of the Arts opens its 1992-93 season with a photography exhibit, "Photo/Works '92," Sept. 9-30.

The exhibit is open to any Michigan photographer over the age of 18 whose works haven't been produced in a class or with the aid of an instructor.

The non-refundable entry fee, which allows up to three entries, is $18 for non-members and $15 for members. Entries must be submitted 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Friday-Saturday, Aug. 28-29, to the WFA Gallery in the Waterford Community Center, 1415 Crescent Lake Road at M-59 in Waterford. For more information, call gallery director Robert Sieburger at 666-4563.

This is the first time the WFA has sponsored such an exhibition.

It is also being sponsored by local businesses and individuals interested in promoting the arts in this area.

A cash award of $300 for best of show, and cash awards for first, second and third place in both categories of black and white and color, will be given. Honorable mention awards and special awards by specific businesses will also be given.

The show will be juried by Mary Jo Toles, nationally known photographer and teacher, currently associate professor of art at the Cleveland Institute of Art. She previously taught at the Cranbrook Academy of Art in Bloomfield Hills.

Toles has had many personal shows, and her work is included in many collections and has been published in numerous photographic journals and textbooks.
