CREDITS

From dress-up to casual, excitement's the marquee star for fall when it comes to fashion. And excitement's the surprise for this fall's new fashion supplement to the Designer & Editor's Guide to County editors.

We've tried to put together a fashion experience - a splashy picture package, with a movie theme.
Our intent isn't to preview New York's fashion runways but rather the styles of our hometown fashion stores. We've changed the size of our fashion section but have kept the same dramatic design approach last spring - from bold styles to glossy color in a stretch and trimmed magazine format.

Bob Slater, assistant managing editor for special projects, supervised the special section. The fashion writer and coordinator was Denise Lucas. O & E representatives JJ Martel and Aubrey Reed oversaw advertising. O & E graphic coordinator Randy Bost and staff artist Tammy Graves designed the section, including the cover. Direct queries to Bob Slater, 953 2113.

About the Cover: Wild Wild West. Our urban cowboy will swell Seasons this fall in the back and white pony costume by Armani. Tamed by Leila Vitis's black cashmere duster jacket, the city sinner who's storming with a Guess Black leather silver-studded belt, $95, and Guess Black leather boots, $100, inspired by a Wildcat. A Sheraton style fall with a black, hooded pony coat, $195. Accessories: Earrings, Laura, Dearborn.
