

Accident

The school district's move came following an uproar from the parents in the Strathmore subdivision, who circulated petitions last week to ask for the change the busy 13 Mile Road bus stop. The affected subdivision is at 13 mile and Haggerty in Farmington Hills, on the district's west side. Angry parents said they planned to attend Tuesday's school board meeting and voice their concerns.

"We're all young families, the majority of us," said resident Holly Deline. "I would let them (the children) stand all over my lawn, if it would keep them safe."

"Why does it take someone to get killed before their eyes are opened?"

Dead at scene

Parents said it could as easily have been one of the students hurt. Several of the students were standing within feet of where the vehicle and motorcycle collided.

Students were waiting at the bus stop shortly before 11 a.m. — at the time of the accident — because there was only half a day of school. Tuesday was the first day of class.

Geoffrey Kent Gresson, 41, of Waterford, was pronounced dead at the scene at 11:13 a.m., said Sgt. Ray Cranston of the Farmington Hills police traffic section. Gresson was traveling eastbound on his motorcycle on 13 Mile when a west-bound Jeep driven by a 16-year-old girl attempted to make a left turn into the Strathmore subdivision. The driver was a North Farmington student.

"She entered the left turn lane east of Strathmore for a left turn. In the process of the left turn, the motorcycle struck the passenger side of the Jeep," Cranston said. "Because of the nature of the collision, he (Gresson) was dragged under the vehicle."

The 16-year-old and her passenger were not seriously injured. Both appear to have been wearing seatbelts. Excessive speed and alcohol apparently were not contributing factors in the accident, Cranston said.

It's unknown whether the 16-year-old driver will face charges. "We're not ready to make a statement," Cranston said. "This is still under investigation."

Police credited school officials with helping organize the student witnesses, whom police interviewed following the accident.

Past complaints

Dozens of parents throughout the Farmington Public School District logged complaints last year after the district moved all secondary bus stops to main roads to save money, effectively cutting $1 million from the district's budget.

Parents were concerned at that time that traffic on main roads was a hazard to their children who would be waiting in the morning darkness with sometimes hazardous road conditions.

One parent called the students "sitting ducks."

Parents in Strathmore said they also were concerned last year, but became alarmed with last week's fatality. Vision along 13 Mile is a problem and the intersection at 13 Mile and Strathmore also becomes icy in the winter months. People also cut through the subdivision, especially with ongoing construction along nearby 12 Mile Road.

"We have kids who do not want to ride the bus anymore," said parent Rita Sitron, whose daughter was one of the students who witnessed Tuesday's fatality. Sitron and other parents said last week the school district was initially unresponsive when they called with concerns.

"It takes a fatality like this" to bring the concern to light," Sitron added. "How much closer do you have to get to these kids?"

Another parent, Regina Storrs, said she remains concerned about the trauma to her child and others. "I still have a lot of problems with the psychological damage that occurs," she said. "Who knows what will happen?"

How to help hurricane victims

Farmington-area residents wanting to assist victims caught in the path of Hurricane Andrew in Florida and Louisiana can do so through the Farmington Hills Corps of the Salvation Army.

People should take food and other needed goods to the Salvation Army, 27500 Shawwassee road, Farmington Hills, early this week.

The following items are needed: bottled water, dry or canned foods, baby food, paper goods, toothpaste, toothbrushes, blankets and linens. For those who would like to donate money, checks should be made out to "Salvation Army Hurricane Relief."

"One hundred percent of the donations will go to hurricane relief," said Capt. Homer Smith, who directs the Farmington Hills Corps. For more information, call 477-1153.

SCHEDULING APPOINTMENTS

How often should you see your doctor about your arthritis? Your schedule is important and appointments are time consuming, expensive, and disruptive if the doctor is running late. Appropriate scheduling centers benefit both for you and the doctor's office.

No blanket answer can cover the determinants that govern the proper timing between arthritis visits. Considerations include the degree of your pain, the extent of your impairment, the hazard inherent in your medication, the physical and emotional strain of your work and day, and your past experience with drug reactions.

Another important consideration is the cycle of your arthritis. Many patients have a pattern of response to medication which seems as much a reflection of the nature of their condition as evidence of the efficacy of the medication itself. You are seemingly doing well on a particular regimen. Then for no reason you can discern, the arthritis involves more joints, lasts longer each day, and begins to include new joints. Your doctor adjusts your medication and for a time you are well again. Then joint pain returns and the pattern repeats itself.

What drives this ebb and flow of arthritis is not clear. However, timing your visit with the cycle of your flare, minimizes the visits you need, and makes each one worth your time.
