Listed below are some of the Farmington-area police incidents, fire calls and court cases reported during the past week.

HILLS MAN INDICTED

A Farmington Hills certified public accountant was indicted by a federal grand jury in Detroit Aug. 28, according to U.S. Attorney Stephen Markman.

offer and promise to pay a sum of money to a public official. According to the indictment, Berndt participated in meetings from about Jan. 7, 1992, to Feb. 6, 1992, with an Internal Revenue Service agent to discuss a 1989 tax return of one of his clients. The indictment alleges that during the course of these meetings, Mr. Berndt offered the revenue agent between $2,000 and $2,500 to file a false report with the IRS that would indicate that the client did not owe any taxes, according to Markman.

The indictment also alleges that Berndt was going to inform his client that substantial taxes were due and owing, and that he could resolve the matter if he received a "big retainer fee," according to Markman. If convicted, Berndt faces a maximum penalty of 15 years in prison and $5,000 fine. An indictment is only a charge and is not evidence of guilt. A trial will be scheduled. The case was investigated by the IRS's internal security division.
