

State Reps Tangled On S'craft Vote Bill

By KATHY MORAN
The possibility of legislative action on the Schoolcraft trustee election method is dwindling.
State Rep. Marvin Stempien (D-Livonia) wants to see each college district in the state hold a vote of the trustees and the college apportionment commissions to determine whether to hold at-large or single-member district elections.
Sen. Carl Pursell (R-Plymouth) wants to see Schoolcraft hold at-large trustee elections.
Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Roland Olzak ruled that unless the Legislature acts previously, the college should hold at-large trustee election for five seats on Sept. 13.

Segel Heads Area B'nai B'rith Unit

Louis Segel, a Southfield resident who is operations manager of Wonderland Center in Livonia, is the 23rd president of the Metropolitan Detroit B'nai B'rith Council, a coordinating body for the 25 B'nai B'rith lodges with a membership of 8,000.
A member of Congregation Beth Achim Synagogue, Segel is past president of the Ivan S. Bloch Lodge and for four years was vice president of the metropolitan council.
Segel, of 23677 Merrill, Southfield, will be installed June 16 at 6 p.m. at a dinner-dance at Congregation B'nai David in Southfield.
Vice presidents of the metropolitan council will be Harold Jaffa of 16215 Roanoke, Southfield; Paul Perry of Detroit, Mark Stern of Birmingham and Stephen Rose of Oak Park.
Recording secretary is Steven Sperling of Oak Park, and his assistant is Dennis Rice of Oak Park. Treasurer will be Max Liberman of 2094 W. Eight Mile, Southfield.

On the district board of governors will be Herman Kasoff of 2245 Independence, Southfield, and Harry Pearson of Huntington Woods.

And it looks as though the Legislature won't act previous to the slated election.
THE KEY figure emerging in the controversy is Rep. James Tierney (D-Garden City), who has vowed to oppose Stempien's bill when it comes up for a vote this week.
Tierney originally was going to support Pursell's bill in the House but due to the court's decision says there is no immediate need for action and would prefer to have the people vote on the trustee election method in June of 1972.
The Pursell bill is now in the House Committee on Colleges and Universities. It has been passed in the Senate.
Tierney also tried to amend Stempien's bill to have the electorate vote on which the Legislature won't act previous to the slated election.

But Tierney's amendment failed last Thursday by two votes in a $2-1 House vote. However, Tierney said the near-pass shows Stempien's lack of support in the House for his bill. Stempien couldn't be reached for comment.
RATHER THAN try to pass the amendment again, Tierney said he will withdraw his amendment and fight to have Stempien's bill defeated.
"I think I will withdraw my amendment," he said. "I think I can beat the bill down."

'Rescue Rouge' Meeting Set

A committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners will meet with leaders of the citizens' "Rescue the Rouge" group on June 14 to discuss county help in cleaning up the Rouge River.
The meeting of the commissioners' Public Works Committee is set for 11 a.m. in Room 130 of the City-County Building, Detroit.
The "Rescue the Rouge" Committee, which represents a number of civic and conservation groups, tentatively has scheduled a mass effort to clear debris from the river for the weekend of Aug. 14-15.
Plans for the cleanup will be outlined at Monday's meeting.
ERVIN A. STEINER JR., chairman of the Public Works Committee, called the meeting to coordinate assistance by county departments in the cleanup.

4 Persons Promoted By St. Mary Hospital

Sister Mary Calasantia, who has served as administrator of St. Mary Hospital for the past decade, has been elevated to the role of executive director in a realignment of the executive positions.
The realignment was brought about by the recent election of Mother Mary Columbine to the office of provincial superior of the Felician Sisters. The resulting vacancies on the official ladder have been filled from within the organization.
IN ADDITION TO the promotion of Sister Mary Calasantia, three others were placed in new posts.
Miss Rita Radzialowski, director of nursing service and assistant administrator since 1969, was named administrator and given a place on the board of trustees.
Mrs. Ann Gusfa, of Dearborn, in-service coordinator, was appointed to head the nursing service.
Mrs. Linda Kline, of Westland, was named to the position of in-service coordinator after serving as supervisor of the cardiac care unit and emergency room.
Along with these duties she has been active on civil defense and drug abuse committees. She initiated the nursing program at Madonna and is a member of the American College of Hospital Administrators.
IN STEPPING to the role of administrator, Miss Radzialowski becomes the first lay person to hold the position.
A graduate of St. Francis School of Nursing, Mercy College and Columbia University in New York where she received her degree in administration, Miss Radzialowski brings a wealth of experience to her new assignment.
She is immediate past chairman of the Michigan Board of Nursing, and has been a member of the National League for Nursing and a member of the American Nurses Association.
She was the first American nurse recipient of the Clara Elizabeth Knudsen Fellowship to Denmark. Prior to coming to St. Mary, she was director of nursing at Mt. Carmel Hospital.
MRS. GUSFA came to St. Mary from Henry Ford Hospital, where she was supervisor of the out-patient department. She is a graduate of the Mercy College School of Nursing, has attended Wayne State and at present is pursuing her education at the University of Detroit.
Mrs. Kline also is a graduate of Wayne State. Before coming to St. Mary, she worked at the Veterans Administration Hospital in New York and, for a time, was the industrial nurse at the Fisher Body plant in Livonia. She has held the positions of staff nurse, head nurse and supervisor since coming to St. Mary.

FIGHTING POLLUTION — A "Silent Glow" pollution free incinerator recently has been installed at St. Mary Hospital in Livonia as part of the campaign to improve our environment. From left, Robert Jenkins, president of Allied Marketing, is handing the keys to Miss Rita Radzialowski, hospital administrator, as Chief Engineer Archie Welch looks on.

Incinerator Reduces Solid Wastes By 95 Pct.

By W.W. EDGAR
As a contribution to the environment, St. Mary Hospital has installed a pollution-free incinerator capable of handling more than 150 pounds of solid waste an hour.
The new equipment for the addition to the Livonia hospital is the latest model on the market and reduces the waste material to ashes without smoke or odor.
According to the officials of the Allied Marketing Associates, the Incinerator, known as the Silent Glow, will reduce the waste to less than five per cent of its original bulk and leave nothing but inert ash that is easy to handle.
IT IS A gas-fired or oil-fired burning equipment that had its inception in the Arctic wastelands some years ago. Silent Glow originally manufactured oil ranges, and at the close of World War II, it was engaged in the supplying of cook stoves for the Army.
At the time, the Army was using dogtags and had a problem of disposing of the carcasses of those that died. Then someone discovered that a space heater could be turned into a makeshift incinerator which disposed of the carcasses with a minimum of odor and residue.
As the legend goes, an Army officer, on returning to the New England states, called on the head of the Silent Glow Co. and told him that more of these heaters should be adapted for animal disposal. That was the start.
IMMEDIATELY, emphasis on the company's products was turned to the building of the incinerator until it now is the leader in its field in the war on pollution.
The latest model, such as that installed at St. Mary Hospital, meets all the strict new anti-pollution codes for apartment, shopping centers, restaurants, hospitals and factories.
"It will burn anything but glass," one of the firm's representatives claimed, "and bottles are becoming less and less of a problem since there are large companies now engaged in recycling the glass."
The St. Mary installation is the first in any of the Observerland hospitals.
